SAN DOMENICO GOES INTERNATIONAL

Today is the 21st anniversary of the effective date of the United Nations charter, Oct. 24, 1945. To mark the date, pupils at San Domenico lower School in Sleepy Hollow were asked to wear costumes of the various United Nations. The result was a student body costumed for nations around the world. Laura Grandin (left) in Mexican costume and Deborah Basham in that of Spain did a Spanish dance as some of the girls assembled for their picture. (Independent-Journal photo)

Police, Students Clash As Summit Talk Begins

Slips To Death After Struggle

For a brief instant today, tow-truck operator Charles Stack of Greenbrae held another man's life in his hands.

But the man didn't want to live, and fought back before slipping over the rail of the Golden Gate Bridge to his death 200 feet below.

A Coast Guard cutter immediately began a search for the body of the apparent suicide, Robert E. Hanson, 42, a residential appraiser from Fremont in Alameda County, but the search was called off without success.

Meanwhile, Stock, 35, whose home is a trailer on Redwood Highway, described how he tried desperately to pull Hanson to safety in mid-span.

Stack said the man struck wildly at his head and eyes with his free arm. Temporarily blinded, Stack lost his grip and Hansonq slipped over the rail.

At about 3 a.m., Stack said, he found Hanson's car parked in the southbound lanes and towed it to the toll plaza.

He went back to Hanson, whom he saw standing on the sidewalk of the bridge, and said he told him: "I took your car off the bridge because it was a traffic hazard."

Stack said Hanson yelled back, "You can have it," and sprinted toward the rail. Then, after the brief struggle with Stack, Hanson fell without another word.

Authorities on both the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge and the Golden Gate Bridge had been on the watch for Hanson after receiving a call from his wife, Dolores, who said her husband had threatened to jump from a bridge." She didn't know which one.

Malaysia Leftists Give LBJ Warning

MANILA (UPI)—About 3,000 students clashed with police tonight in an angry demonstration outside President Johnson's hotel following the opening of the Manila Summit Conference during which Johnson pleaded for peace in Southeast Asia.

Fists flew and at least seven gunshots rang out as the student fought with about 150 Philippine army troops and police guarding the Manila Hotel where Johnson and most other conference delegates are staying.

At least one student bleeding profusely from a gunshot wound was rushed to a hospital by taxi. Student leaders said about 20 of their number were injured. Some police also sustained injuries from flying rocks, along with at least three U.S. newsmen.

The outburst was the most serious to confront President Johnson on his current Asian tour and marred an otherwise warm reception here.

As the students staged their clash, a leftist opposition to President Johnson's visit to Malaysia, yesterday gained momentum in Kuala Lampur with a warning to the U.S. Chief of State not to set foot there.

OPEN LETTER

The warning was continued in an open letter to the "American counsul general to Malaya" from 22 left-wing trade unions in Singapore.

The open letter said "It is advisable to inform your president not to step his legs (six) on the ground."

Johnson told his Asian colleagues during a closed summit session earlier today that he hoped their deliberations would provide "new fuel for the cause of peace in Southeast Asia."

The President spoke at the end of the end of the first day's meetings after a tough-turkey military briefing from Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Saigon, who reportedly asked for more troops in Viet Nam.

SEVEN NATIONS

The leaders of the seven nations fighting the Communists there met in five hours of closed sessions after a formal opening ceremony in which Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos called on North Viet Nam to accept the hand of conciliation.

Johnson, after listening to all the other leaders, said he regretted that North Viet Nam was not present. He said the Hanoi government thus far had been unwilling to "appear at any table or even to talk quietly or individually about the peace that could come if it changed its mind."

Johnson, whose remarks were summarized in a briefing by Press Secretary Bill Moyers, tried to strike a delicate balance between talk of peace and letting Hanoi and Peking know that the allied front would be more solid than ever as a result of the Manila meeting.

Johnson, trying his best to avoid any suggestion of dominating the conference, said he came to Manila as "an equal

Copters Crash After Reds Hit Marines

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnamese troops striking across the border attacked a U.S. Marine regimental headquarters just south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) today and two helicopters crashed as they whirled in to pick up casualties.

Taking advantage of darkness and heavy monsoon rains, the Communists lobbed about 40 mortar rounds into the command post of the 7th Marine Regiment just a mile and a half from the international buffer zone where Leathernecks have dug in to halt an expected North Vietnamese offensive.

Farther south near the big U.S. military enclave at Da Nang, Communist forces struck again early today, hitting units of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade guarding the perimeter of the Da Nang Air Base. Fifteen mortar rounds hit the paratrooper positions causing light casualties.

A Viet Cong mine, planted in a rural road 22 miles northest of Hue and justsouth of the Marine base at Dong HA, blew up under a bus killing 15 Vietnamese civilians and wounding 20 others.

Farther south, in the Mekong Delta, a pistol-packing woman terrorist assassinated two officials in a village market place and fled amid bursts of machinegun fire and grenade explosions.

Writs By Prisoners Jam Prison System

So many San Quentin prisoners are filing writs with the courts that the prison authorities will set up special machinery to speed them on their way.

At the same time, in a seemingly contradictary move, the prison library will be stripped of all but 12 law books considered "acceptable" by state prison officials.

Both actions are being taken as a result of directives from the office of State Director of Corrections Walter Dunbar.

The rule stating all but the 12 law books named by Dunbar must be removed and destroyed comes as a blow to many cell block lawyers.

Already, an inmate, Mervin Carlos McKinney has filed a writ stating the new rule "will hamper, hinder, harass and effectively deny" his constitutional rights. The State District Court of Appeals in Sacramento has, however, turned down his claim.

More than 5,000 writs a year are sent to the courts from San Quentin, Associate Warden James W. L. Park said today.

"The number is growing all the time and they will now be forwarded with the minimum of handling at the prison," he said.

A metal "Writ and Petition Box" will be set up near the yard office, where prisoners can drop their writs. The unit will be emptied once a day. The petitions will go direct to the mail room for processing.

"In the recent past we have been criticized for delaying the writs, but now they will be forwarded without too much red tape. They will be sent off to the courts without regard to what they contain," said Park. Prisoners will be instructed on how they should be written.

Park said that over the past two years "only a handful" of the writs have been successful.

As for the book ban, Park said that San Quentin library will wait until it has the 12 "accepted" books before getting rid of the rest.

He maintained that while San Quentin inmates will see a reduction in volumes in the library, other prisons in the state system will benefit by having the 12 books not previously available to them.

The books which will be destroyed are several hundred "old and obselete law books, most of them out of date and useless," he said.

The approved list includes the California Penal Code, Welfare and Institutions Code, California Rules of the Court, Rules of the United States Court of Appeals, and Rules of the United States Supreme Court.

LBJ Movie Being Sent To Russians

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A government-made movie about President Johnson and his native Texas hill country has been sent to Russia and 97 other countries for screening by U.S. embassies.

Called "A President's Country," the 28-minute, wide-screen, color production was narrated by actor Gregory Peck and produced by the U.S. Information Agency (USIA) at a cost of $87,612. It is available in five languages.

Driver, 23, Dies In Span Crash

A 23-year-old San Rafael man was fatally injured and his passenger seriously hurt when their car unaccountably swerved into the path of an oncoming vehicle 300 feet south of the north end of the Golden Gate Bridge at 6:50 a.m. yesterday.

The victim was Carl Ray Kirby, 23, of 100 Bayo Vista Way, who suffered massive internal injuries and died at 3:12 p.m. at Marin General Hospital.

His passenger, Nancy Lavonne Chambers, 32, of 15-A Warner Court, San Rafael, was in poor condition today at Marin General Hospital. She suffered multiple cuts, scrapes and bruises.

Kirby served as a waiter the last three years at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael. Miss Chambers has been a hostess at that restaurant for two months.

The California Highway Patrol said Kirby's car was traveling north on the bridge when it began skidding, left to right, then swung around broadside into the northbound lane.

It collided there with a southbound car driven by Leonard H. Guidici, 31, of 456 Alameda De La Loma, Novato. Officers said Guidici did not have time to

Tam Lunch Period Is Split To Avoid Racial Tension

In a move to relieve racial tension at Tamalpais High School, particularly during the lunch period, Principal Robert H. Prather today ordered a split lunch schedule to start tomorrow.

The campus will be divided by buildings. Half the students will have lunch from 11:35 a.m. to 12:05 p.m., and the other half from 12:35 to 1:05 p.m. There will be no change in the start or end of the school day.

"The Southern Marin area is going through a period of tension as a 'spin-off' of the troubles in San Francisco and Oakland." Prather said. "When feelings get high in the community, the high school reflects the anxieties, fears and hostilities of the adult communities. The Tamalpais High campus is going through such a period at this time.

The administrative cabinet of Tam has made some long-term plans to lessen the chance of any incident occurring and to begin a period of better communication. On a short-term basis, teachers are giving additional time to increased supervision.

"The administrative cabinet is planning to implement a long-range program, involving group discussions between students, between faculty and students, between administrators and students; parent meetings; coffee meetings; study of curriculum and tracking; study of participation in student activities, and plans for opening lines of communication between people in general."

Plans for these programs were to be discussed today at a conference of the faculty with Lanny Berry, county edministrative assistant for human relations.

Membersof the cabinet are Prather, other administrators and a teacher representative.

Court Ruling To Be Made On Deposits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to rule on a complaint by a group of Japanese-Americans against application of a 60-day statute of limitations to bar their claims for return of seized salvage deposits.

The deposits in California branches of the Yokohama Specie Bank Ltd., were seized after the attack on Pearl Harbor. In 1961 the alien property custodian mailed to claimants a schedule of proposed returns. The custodian said persons aggrieved by the proposed amounts could ask judicial review within 60 days, under terms of the trading with the enemy act.

The U.S. District Court here later dismissed numerous complaints filed by aggrieved persons, holding they had not acted within the 60-day deadline. The dismissal was upheld by the U.S. Court of Appeals here. Its opiion said arguments on behalf of the Japanese - Americans were "broadly spiced with a strog emotional appeal," but the relief sought "lies solely in legislative hands."

Navy Orders Court Martial

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Capt. Archie C. Kunte, former commander of the Headquarters will be tried by a general court martial, the Navy announced today. The trial date is not yet set.

Kuntze was relieved last may of his command of a supply organization that had spent $60 million in two years. The operations employed 9,000 Vietnamese in housing and feeding American personnel and operating post exchanges and hospitals.

Kuntez will be tried on four counts charging that he testified falsely on official matters, violated a lawful order, made official statements with intent to deceive, and conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman.

Court Grants Kesey Bail

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—Narcotics fugitive Ken Kesey was granted bail again today only five days after his capture in a chase near Candlestick Park ended eight months of flight from marijuana charges.

Paul Robertson, Kesey's lawyer, pleaded for the writer's release so he could "warn his young followers against drug use" at a so-called LSD "graduation exercise" in San Francisco Saturday.

Tanker Burns; Seven Crew Members Lost

MORGAN CITY, La. (AP) — Fierce flames raged unchecked today through a gasoline-laden tanker in the Gulf of Mexico after the crew was forced to abandon ship.The Coast Guard said seven of the 41 crewmen were missing.

IN THE EYE—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy (D-N.Y.) receives a bouquet the hard way at Santa Clara County Fairgrounds. He visited the South Bay Area yesterday. An unidentified woman jammed the flowers through the crowd as Gov. Edmund G. Brown looked on. (AP Wirephoto)

Kennedy Says People Don't Support Ky

BERKELEY (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., says he doesn't think the people of South Viet Nam want Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and "I think it's also clear they don't want the Communists."

Kennedy made the statement yesterday in response to a question from one of more than 13,000 people who overflowed the outdoor Greek Theater at the University of California at Berkeley.

It came as the seven nations fighting in Viet Nam opened a summit conference in Manila.

HIGH POINT

His appearance before the enthusiastic audience was the high point of a day spent campaigning through California for Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who called on the senator's help in the close race against Republican Ronald Reagan.

Kennedy planned to head toward Portland, Ore., for more campaigning.

"The people of South Viet Nam should be free to choose their own destiny," Kennedy said.

"Personally I don't think they want General Ky and I think it is also clear they don't want the Communists."

Later, Kennedy called newsmen aside to expand on the statement. He said he has made the same point "a half dozen times" and that witnesses before Senate committee hearings on the Viet Nam war have agreed, including Gen. Maxwell Taylor, former chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

SUPPORTS JOHNSON

There was applause when someone asked if Kennedy would run for president in 1968.

"I'm going to remain in 1968 as the Democratic senator from New York and I'm going to support the Democratic ticket of President Johnson and Hubert Humphrey," he replied.

In his Berkeley speech, Kennedy hit hard at politicians who exploit the "white backlash" against demands for improved conditions for Negroes and violence in Negro neighborhoods.

"The backlash which masks hostility to the swift and complete fulfillment of equal opportunity and treatment, which denies the need to destroy slums, provide education and eliminate poverty—that is wrong, shameful, immoral and self-defeating," said Kennedy.

"Any leader who seeks to exploit this feeling for the momentary advantage of office fails his duty to the people of this country."

What 89th Congress Did To Typical American Family

EDITORS' NOTE—The impact of bills passed by the 89th Congress which adojurned late Saturday will be felt in hometown and family circles across the land. To explore the effect of the congressional actions, this story illustrates some of the things the 1966 session did for, or to, a "typical" family in a mythical American community.

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1966 session of the "Great Society" Congress will have profound impact on all Americans — their hopes and fears, their pocketbooks, their way of life.

A stepped-up war on poverty, billions more for the Viet Nam war, sums to stake education at home, a boost in the minimum wage, auto safety, consumer protection, new remedies for ailing cities and public transportation, steps to clean up the air and waters, to beautify highways — these are just a few of the problems Congress tackled.

The second session of the 89th Congress specifically authorized Sargent Shriver, director of the war on poverty, to provide birth control devices upon request of a local community, and the woman involved.

To explore the effect of the programs enacted or extended this year, let's take a "typical" family living in Beauville, a mythical Midwest city (pop. 15,000).

This family consists of dad, who makes $10,400 a year; mom, who tries to make ends meet and save a little; Bob, 24, who is with the Marines in Viet Nam; Joe, 20, a kind of alienated lad who has failed to get with it (he got a bad conduct discharge from the Army and doesn't work; Nancy, 19, who attends state university, is socially conscious, greatly interested in the wide world and is what her father fondly calls a "do gooder"; and, last but not least, Poochie, a poodle.

Some of the things the 1966 session did for, or to, this family:

Dad — His take-home pay dropped by $2.40 a week on May 1, because the income tax withholding went up from $20.80 to $23.20. However, if he has $15,000 in the bank or savings and loan, it will now be fully insured, as compared with the previous $10,000 limit. If he's thinking of buying a new car in 1968, he can expect it to be more "crashworthy."

Meantime, the manufacturers's excise tax on new autos has gone up from 6 to 7 per cent, and the tax on phone calls from 3 to 10 per cent. As for recreation, if dad is a sports fan, he can look forward to seeing more pro football games.

Mom — The supermarket labyrinth will be a little easier to figure out, though not right away. Labels will be easier to read, giant half-quarts and jumbo pounds are on their way out, and the air space in the top of the package seems likely to diminish. Mom can hope for a better education for Nancy, and for the grandchildren, if any, in view of $6.2 billion in aid to elementary and secondary schools and $3.9 billion for colleges; if she goes touring she will be able to see more parks; if the family takes a cruise, it will be better able to avoid a fire-trap ship.

Operators of foreign liners must advertise whether they meet safety standards. If mom and dad are interested in a painless way to finance presidential campaigns, they can check a box on their joint income tax return and $2 will go into a kitty for the purpose.

Bob — If he survives Viet Nam, the government will help stake him to a career as a steam shovel operator or nuclear physicist. Under the "cold war GI bill" it will pay $100 a month toward his subsistence while training — $125 if he gets married, and $150 if he becomes a father. This applies not only to Viet Nam war fighters, but all persons with six months or more service since 1955. Upon discharge, Bob can join the American Legion, previously limited to veterans of the two world wars and Korea.

Joe — If he shapes up and lives an exemplary life for three years, and if his preacher or other solid citizen so attests, he can get that bad conduct discharge superseded by a certificate of rehabilitation. This should help him get a better job. If he gets one, he will find the minimum wage raised from $1.25 an hour to $1.40 by next Feb. 1, and to $1.60 by Feb. 1, 1968. Meantime he might try a Job Corps camp.

Nancy — Broad new vistas open for this socially conscious young lady. She might join the Peace Corps, newly funded; the Teachers Corps, a specially trained group which will teach in slum schools; or take part in a new struggle against city blight.

Poochie — He will have more security against dognapers. A new act authorizes the Agriculture Department to regulate the sale and housing of laboratory animals — dogs, cats, hamsters, monkeys, rabbits, guinea pigs. Dealers must have licenses and keep records. To safeguard Poochie's health, another act provides aid for educating veterinarians.

Beauville, like most cities, has a slum, a squalid place that lowers the city's tone, and puts a drain on its welfare funds.

Here's a tip to Nancy. Persuade dad and mom to put the heat on the city fathers to get in on the ground floor of the "Demonstration Cities act." If it works, this new approach could wipe out run-down areas in some small cities like Beautville, and improve the quality of life in slums of bigger cities.

All told, Congress passed more than 400 bills, not counting private relief bills, and appropriated $144 billion, a peacetime record. All this, of course, must come out of the pocket of taxpayers or from borrowing, a lien on future tax takes.

LBJ Probably Will Sign All Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is expected to sign into law virtually all the legislation passed in the rush to adjournment by Congress.

Much of it is for his "Great Society" program — and some is greater than he asked.

Some key programs could be signed by Johnson even before he returns to the United States Nov. 2 from his Pacific-Asian tour.

The lengthy second session of the 89th Congress ended late Saturday afternoon.

The final outpouring of legislation included a $6.1-billion elementary and secondary school aid bill forthe next two years that is a whopping $1.7 billion above what Johnson asked.

The President's demonstration cities program —designed to show what an all-fronts attack on poverty can do —won late approval at $1.26 billion, less than half what he asked.

Lawmakers voted each major political party a potential $30-million kitty for the 1968 presidential election campaign.

The two-year appropriation total of $263 billion stands as a record, with this year's $144 billion a close second to the one-year record of $147 billion set in 1942, the first full year of World War II.

Congress created a 12th Cabinet department, transportation; passed a two-year plan to raise the minimum wage to $1.60 and broadened its coverage by 8 million workers; voted new safety standards for automobiles; approved a $3.7 billion attack on pollution and requirements for so-called fair labeling of consumer goods.

The ant is considered the world's strongest creature, being capable of picking up a load 50 times heavier than itself.

Russ, Peking In Another Verbal Blast

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union accused Red China today of practicing "an absurd barracks-style communism," and Peking described the Soviet leadership as "a gang of renegades."

An article in the Soviet Communist party paper Pravda attacked Chinese Communist Chairman Mao Tse-tung's "cultural revolution."

It asserted real communism has nothing to do with the type of activities undertaken in China's purge, which it described as: "The destruction of monuments of ancient civilization, the destruction of masterpieces of world culture, the manhandling of workers and progressive intellectuals, the defamation of Communist party organizations, the implantation of the Mao Tse-tung personality cult."

The Chinese attack against the Soviet Union was contained in an article in the Peking People's Daily which criticized the U.S.S.R. for expelling Chinese students.

Moscow ordered the ouster of the Chinese students Oct. 7, claiming it was in retaliation for the expulsion of Soviet students from China in September.

Chinese Red Guards demonstrated last night outside the Soviet Embassy in Peking, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

City Patrolled

Frogmen Looking For More Bodies

MANIL A(AP) — Philippine navy frogmen dived into Manila Bay again and again today looking for bodies from the coastal steamer Pioneer Leyte which collided with an American freighter.

With 50 bodies recovered and the divers searching the wreck more than 50 feet below the surface, rescue authorities announced there are 172 known survivors and 33 persons still missing.

The collision occurred early yesterday in a well-marked navigational area during a calm and generally clear night. The 778-ton Philippine vessel sank immediately.

'MESSY' ART BACK AGAIN IN MOSCOW SHOW

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev stood before a painting by Soviet artist Robert Falk in 1962 and declared, "I would say that is just a mess."

Falk's paintings are back on exhibit in Moscow for the first time since then, perhaps indicating a slight loosening of controls on Soviet art.

An exhibit of about 100 paintings and drawing by the late artist opened Saturday in four rooms of the Moscow Center of the Union of Artists. It is being well attended, especially by young people.

The exhibit is the second officially sponsored display in recent months of works by previously blacklisted Soviet painters. Painting by Alexander Tyshler, 67, were exhibited at the Pushkin Museum here in March.

Political Storm In Escape Of Spy

LONDON (AP) — A political storm descended on Prime Minister Harold Wilson today over the escape of double agent George Blake, sprung Saturday night from a London jail where he was serving the longest sentence in modern English history.

Scotland Yard kept special watch on eight Communist ships at the London docks and on Communist embassies and Communist-front institutions. But detectives speculated that Blake, 44, had been spirited out of Britain within hours of his escape from Wormwood Scrubs Prison.

Conservative legislators served notice they will seek to censure the government for failing to keep Blake under closer wraps. Sentenced in 1961 to 42 years as the most dangerous spy of the postwar years, he was kept without special security in a jail from which eight escapes already had been made this year.

Blake vanished from the jail, which is 10 minutes drive from London airport, soon after the 5 p.m. roll call which under prison routine started a two and one-half hour period in which prisoners were free to visit each other in their unlocked cells. Blake broke the bars of a window on a second-story landing, apparently with some tool which has not been traced, dropped into an exercise yard and climbed a rope ladder over the 20-foot prison wall.

Police believe a car was waiting by the wall for him.

Blake's unprecedented sentence was for nine years of spying for the Soviet Union while he was employed by the British Foreign Office. His trial was secret, but it was reported that his spying resulted in the death or disappearance of at least 40 Western agents in Eastern Europe and the Middle East.

$7,921 Contract Given For Road Landscaping

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The State Department of Public Works has awarded a $7,921 contract to Page Construction Co. of Novato for landscaping about six acres of roadside areas, in and near Tiburon, between Blackfield Drive and Reed Ranch Road.

The department also awarded a $5,693 contract to Ghilotti Brothers, Inc., San Rafael, for constructing channelization on Tiburon Boulevard at Stewart Drive in Tiburon.

Non-Aligned Nations Ask Bombing Halt

NEW DELHI, India (AP)— The government chiefs of India, Yugoslavia and the United Arab Republic called today for an immediate halt to the American bombing of North Viet Nam and the withdrawal of all foreign forces from Viet Nam.

In their closing communique, the leaders of the three nonaligned countries also said participation of the Communist Viet Cong in any peace talks was essential for the talks to be successful.

The communique was issued by Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and Presidents Tito and Gamal Abdel Nasser after four days of talks.

They said they are convinced the implementation of the 1954 Geneva agreements and the withdrawal of all foreign forces would lead to peace.

Newsmen asked Nasser if the communique's request for the withdrawal of all foreign forces meant the withdrawal of North Vietnamese forces from the south and non-Vietnamese Communist forces from North Viet Nam.

"The North Vietnamese say they do not have any forces in the south. It is not clear to us if they do," Nasser replied.

Louttit, Pike Head Toward Showdown On Heresy Count

WHEELING, W.Va. (AP) — Rt. Rev. Henry I. Louttit, Episcopal Bishop of South Florida, headed for an ecclesiastical showdown tomorrow with Bishop James A. Pike, whom he has accused of espousing heretical ideas.

"I've fought John Birchers, I've fought segregationists and I'm willing to fight Jim Pike," said Bishop Louttit of Winter haven, Fla., as he prepared for the expected encounter on the floor of the House of Bishops.

DINNER FRIENDS

Both men seemed amiable last night as they joked with each other at the welcoming banquet on a first-name basis.

After dinner, evidence of the battle to come was present as both men ate fast and table-hopped, shaking hands and making light comments with several of the 189 bishops attending the week-long House of Bishops session here.

Earlier yesterday, Pike complained that speaking invitations extended to him by two Wheeling area churches were suddenly withdrawn. He said this was done through the intervention of Bishop Wilburn C. Campbell, of the host West Virginia diocese.

HERESY CHARGES

Bishop Campbell was one of 28 bishops to sign a list of accusations of heresy against Bishop Pike.

Also during the opening day, Pike's supporters circulated a petition calling for an investigation of Louttit and linking his charges with those previously made by Rev. Frank Brunton of Phoenix, Ariz.

Brunton was one of 12 Arizona clergymen who presented to the House of Bishops meeting last year a list of alleged heretical beliefs espoused by Bishop Pike.

At that time the House of Bishops repudiated the charges by saying, "The Bishop of California is not on trial in this house nor does the present accusation against one of our members have standing among us."

Louttit said he is a long-time personal friend of Brunton and also has canonical jurisdiction over him. But he said, "I must have 25 letters in my files (to Brunton) saying stop this nonsense about Pike. He doesn't listen to me."

Louttit was referring specifically to some of Brunton's statements which Bishop Pike called "libelous and slanderous."

Russian Seaman Brought Ashore

EUREKA (UPI) — A Russian seaman was reported in satisfactory condition today after the Coast Guard brought him ashore from his vessel for an emergency operation.

Fedor Petrovich Kulagan, 27, a seaman aboard the Russian vessel Seroglaska, suffered an internal injury, a hospital spokesman said.

The Coast Guard said the vessel, believed to be a fishing boat, was located bout 30 miles from Eureka when it put in a call for help early yesterday.

Husband Slain; Wife Being Held

SAN CARLOS (AP) — Mrs. Assunta Ritchey, 37, wife of paving contractor Arthur Ritchey, is being held on a murder charge in the fatal shooting last night of her husband.

Ritchey, 50, died of two .25 caliber bullet wounds in his abdomen.

Mrs. Ritchey is being held at the San Mateo County jail in Redwood City.

Judge Grants Boehm's Attorney His Leave

The court-appointed attorney for Eugene A. Boehm, 21, charged with murder and felony child beating, today requested that he be relieved of the case because $27,500 cash bail has been posted for the defendant.

"If he can get that amount," said Robert I. Conn, "then he can afford private counsel."

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court agreed. He granted the motion, ordered the scheduled Nov. 7 jury trial for Boehm off calendar, and set for next Monday appearance of new counsel for Boehm for resetting a trial date.

Conn, who had been appointed to represent the defendant at public expense because Boehm appeared unable to afford his own attorney, informed Judge Wilson that money was raised by Boehm's father and four other relatives and was posted Oct. 11.

Bail originally was $11,000. It was reduced to $7,875, then increased to $27,500 after Boehm, an unemployed furniture finisher, was bound over to Marin Superior Court on the two charges.

He is accused of beating Timothey Wayne Buckley, 16-month-old son of Mrs. Roberta Marie Buckley. The child died at Marin General Hospital on Aug. 18.

Boehm told Judge Wilson today he intends to hire a lawyer.

Jury Trail Due To Start In State Fund Theft Case

A test case involving alleged theft from the State Department of Employment, was scheduled today on the Marin Superior Court master calendar to begin jury trial at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

The trial of Kegwin Shahenian, 48, is expected to last five days before Judge Joseph G. Wilson.

Shahenian, of 1222 Fourth Street, San Rafael, is accused of grand theft from the department of employment by drawing unemployment compensation from March 10 to Oct. 10, 1965 without reporting that he also was drawing over $1,200 total wages for working for Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, San Rafael.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony termed it a test case because such alleged violations heretofore have been handled under a misdemeanor section of the Unemployment Insurance Code.

"Our office feels these matters should be handled like any other kind of theft," he declared. "If the amount is felonious (over $200), then it should be a felony charge. In this case, it is over $1,000 and so we don't think it's a misdemeanor and are going to seek a grand theft conviction."

Anthony said he believes it is the first such case tried in California as a felony.

Public Defender Jerome Durham, who represents Shahenian, said he likely will protest the felony status of the case during trial.

Two other criminal matters scheduled to go to jury trial resulted in changes of pleas today. On the civil calendar, two personal injury trials by jury are to begin tomorrow or Wednesday.

The master calendar system was adopted last week in an effort to eliminate a backlog of untried cases. All cases requiring less than three days of trial will automatically "trail" the scheduled cases throughout the week.

stop when Kirby's car swung into his path. The front of his car collided with the driver's side of Kirby's auto.

Kirby's death brought the number of traffic fatalities in Marin County this year to 22, as compared to 21 at the same time last year.

Kirby was one of nine children of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kirby of San Francisco. He was born in Watsonville, but grew up in San Francisco and attended George Washington High School there.

He is survived by his parents; a twin sister, Mrs. Carolyn Eveland of San Francisco, and three other sisters and four brothers: Mrs. Beverly Smith of Millbrae, Mrs. Cleeva Matson of Pennsylvania, Claudia and David Kirby of San Francisco, Charles Kirby of San Jose, Richard Kirby of Daly City and Michael Kirby, in the Army stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

The body was taken to Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael, but was to be transferred to Halsted and Co. in San Francisco for funeral arrangements.

Drivers Suffer Only Minor Auto Injuries

As Irving Peter Lee of San Francisco came to a sharp curve in the southbound lane, his car crossed over the white line into the northbound traffic and hit a car driven by David Wayne Geisinger, 28, also of San Francisco, the California Highway Patrol reported. Both drivers said they would see their own doctors.

Body Found; No Identity

The badly decomposed body of a man was found in the bay yesterday afternoon, one mile northeast of Angel Island, near Red Rock.

The San Francisco coroner said the body had not been identified, but speculated it may be that of William Williamson of San Francisco, missing since Oct. 10 when the sailboat Intrepid capsized off Angel Island. The coroner's office was trying to identify the body from fingerprints.

The body was found at 3:30 p.m. by Chester Shumate, owner of Seaway Marine at 145 Third Street, San Rafael.

The Intrepid capsized with seven persons board. Five of them were recued. Williamson and Heydt, owner of the craft, disappeared. Heydt's body was found Wednesday on the east side of Yerba Buena Island.

Administrator Study Scheduled

The issue of recruiting a city administrator to replace resigning Douglas J. Flautt will be considered by the San Anselmo City Council at 8 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

Marius Cordone, whose building at 721 Sir Francis Drage Boulevard, was condemned by the council at its last session, has asked to be heard on the condemnation.

At its last session the council gave Donald McArthur, owner of McArthur's Bar, two weeks to consult an accoustical engineer on abatement of the noise from the bar and the council will hear a report on progress there.

Zone Change Wins Approval Of Planners

After two split votes, Marin County Planning Commission today approved a zone change on McNear's Point, requested by Draper Co. to allow townhouse development.

The action came by 4-2 vote, with commissioners Michael Praszker and Hugh Dougherty dissenting and commissioner Claude Stoller absent. It recommends a change on 18 acres north of the proposed Marina from industrial to single-family residential and on 11 acres south of the proposed Marina from apartment and resort — commercial recreation use to planned residential, a designation that will allow townhouses.

Engineer Carlos Gonzalex told the commission the present zoning on Draper's 80 acres would allow 250 homes. "We are only proposing 170," he said.

Dougherty said he had no real argument with housing density but more with its configuration and the location of townhouses and of single family homes.

A substitute motion by Dougherty to continue to allow more time for study by the county planning staff lost 3-3, with commissioners Margaret Azevedo, Niels Schultz Jr. and Eugene R. Trombley dissenting.

In some portions of the townhouse area, the density would run nine units per acre. Average density in all townhouse portions must be no more than eight units per acre, the commission decreed.

The commission voted 6-0 to continue for two weeks architectural supervision for townhouse development of 6.6 acres of the portion recommended for zone change.

Darrel Conybeare of the planning staff objected to the proposal to run the townhouses parallel to the shore and "wall off the sense of presence of the bay."

Draper's architect, Gilbert Murphy, declared that Conybeare's alternate drawing was less satisfactory than the developer's proposal. He agreed that views of the bay should be provided for as many homes as possible, but said his plan achieved this.

Adlai Stevenson Exhibit Opens At Library Today

The exhibit of photographs, documents, books and personal objects from the late United Nations ambassador's estate is being shown in the entrance hall on the upper floor and in the gallery on the lower floor. The upper floor exhibit may be seen during library hours, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturdays. The gallery will be open from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 3 to 5 p.m. on Saturdays. The exhibit closes Nov. 12.

Monkey Panics After Rescue

When Bill Bennett Logan saw a monkey in the trees at his Crest Road home in Ross Saturday evening, he tried to tempt the animal down with a banana.

Gingerly, Logan walked into his home, with monkey and banana still atop his head, but once inside the animal panicked and fled to the basement.

Ross Policeman Levins Hinnenberg was called and trapped the monkey with a net and cage. It's now at Marin County Humane Society waiting to be claimed, a companion for Jackie, a capuchin monkey that's been wating at the humane society off and on for three years.

among equals to share with friends and allies our problems, our plans and our hopes."

The most important result that could come from the conference, he said, would be to let the world know that "the nations directly assisting South Viet Nam are resolute."

"We must establish peace in Asia."

Westmoreland, America's military commander, warned that "the war is far from over" and that he expected a new Red offensive of considerable size before the November 8 elections in the United States.

In answer to a question, Westmoreland was said to have recommended that more troops, both from the allied nations and the United States, should be sent into the war stricken country.

There are now about 370,000 there, 325,000 American.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky of South Viet Nam, who also spoke at the closed session, said his government wanted peace to come as quickly as possible but he warned: "It cannot be peace at any price."

President Marcos spoke on behalf of the participating nations at the first and only public session. Said Marcos:

President Johnson listened intently and often led the applause as the 49-year-old World War II guerrilla hero spoke in the Philippine Congress Building.

Seated with Johnson on the platform were the heads of South Viet Nam, Thailand, South Korea, Australia and New Zealand.

Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, chief of state of South Viet Nam, was the only other speaker in the opening ceremony which was attended by Ladybird Johnson and the wives of other leaders.

The agenda for the conference was not announced but it was reportedly emphasizing first the military situation in Viet Nam, the means of speeding up the pacification programs and the seeking of a joint approach to finding a path toward peace negotiations.

American sources said several definite impressions emerged from the opening talks.

—The consensus of the seven allies that all intend to see the struggle through because there is no alternative.

—Military and economic effort must be coordinated so as to make a start on post-war rehabilitation while still fighting.

Outside the conference it was reported the U.S. is asking the conference to make a bid for some agreement to swap prisoners with the north.

It was reported the U.S. wants to include such a bid in the meeting's final statement to be signed tomorrow. Officials in Washington believe the north is holding more than 100 Americans.

President Johnson arrived from Australia yesterday afternoon and got a warm welcome from a crowd of 500,000 on Manila's streets.

Johnson spoke briefly at the airport. He said he came to the conference with "great hopes."

Rice Murder Trial Held Over One Week

Murder trial of Gary Rice, 27-year-old San Rafael mechanic accused of killing an armored car guard in Mountain View in February, scheduled today, has been held over for another week in Santa Clara County Superior Court.

Rice and his uncle, Joseph James Tatton of San Mateo, have pleaded innocent to charges of murder, armed robbery, conspiracy and burglary. Still sought in the case is Rice's brother, Byron, 30, formerly of San Anselmo.

Sidbeck Before Superior Court On Arraignment

Robert Den Sidbeck, 18, was arraigned in Marin Superior Court today on an indictment charging him with the murders of Mr. and Mrs. Everett F. Zimmerman.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson appointed the public defender' soffice to represent Sidbeck and scheduled plea entry for 9:30 a.m. next Monday.

Sidbeck, held in county jail without bail, is accused of beating the dairy farm couple to death Aug. 29-30 in their San Antonio Road home. He was extradicted from Memphis, Tenn., where he was stationed in the Marine Corps.

The indictment replaces a scheduled preliminary hearing and other proceedings in municipal court.

Sidbeck, who appeared in court today in handcuffs, is a former employee of the slain couple. He was in Marin County on two weeks leave when the murders occurred.

Collegians To Help Direct Conference

Two College of Marin sophomores have been named workshop chairmen for the area seven conference of the California Junior College Student Government Assn. Nov. 5 at Chabot College in Alameda County.

Michael Kawai of San Rafael will head the workshop on campus organizations, and Richards Giovannoli of San Rafael will chair the current events workshop.

OBITUARIES

George Henderson Civic Leader Dies

Funeral for George M. Henderson, San Rafael business and civic leader, will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the First Presbyterian Church, San Rafael.

Henderson, Marin district manager for Pacific Gas and Electric Co., had been suffering from a heart ailment, but his death came unexpectedly at a local hospital Saturday. He was 56.

He had worked part-time last week after returning from a 12-day hospital stay and "had a good week until Friday," according to his wife, Ethel. Then, she said, he felt worse and returned to the hospital. He spent a "good night" at the hospital Friday, and then died unexpectedly Saturday, she reported.

Henderson had been district manager for the utility company for 11 years, and had a 34-year career in the utility business. Prior to moving to Marin, he was district manager for PG&E at Antioch. Earlier he was associated with the Coast Counties Gas and Electric Co. of Santa Cruz, which merged with Pacific Gas and Electric.

He was a resident of Marin for 11 years and lived at 318 Forbes Avenue, San Rafael.

Henderson had served as a director of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, a director of the Marin Visitors Bureau, and was a member of the San Rafael Elks Lodge 1108, Marin Development Assn., Marin Rod and Gun Club, San Rafael Rotary Club and Marvelous Marin Breakfast Club.

He also had served as a vice president of the Marin United Fund and this year was head of the commerce and industry division for the United Bay Area Crusade in Marin.

Henderson also had served on the executive board of the Marin Council, Boy Scouts of America; as treasurer of the Marin Assn. for Mental Health; as a director of the San Rafael General Hospital Foundation, and as a director of the Redwood Empire Assn.

He was a member of the Pacific Coast Gas Assn. for 34 years, the Pacific Coast Electric Assn. for 18 years, and the Pacific Service Employees Assn.

GEORGE M. HENDERSON

Before his retirement because of ill health, Brown worked at the Sonoma-Marin cheese factory in Tomales.

He was a member of Tomales Grove 83 of Druids; the Grand Circle of the United Ancient Order of Druids, and the Occidental Post 651, American Legion.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Alex Mitchell of Tomales and Mrs. Dale Orr of Vallejo, and three brothers, Eugene Brown of Tomales, Frank Brown of Sebastopol, and Wallace Choquette of Santa Rosa.

Friends may call at the Parent Funeral Home at Petaluma until 9 a.m. Wednesday. Tomales Grove 83 of the Druids will hold a service at the funeral home tomorrow at 8 p.m. Burial will be in Tomales Protestant Cemetery.

MARY KAHLER

Requiem Mass for Mrs. Mary M. Kahler of Mill Valley will be offered tomorrow at 9 a.m. at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Mill Valley. Burial will be in St. John's Cemetery, San Mateo.

Rosary will be recited today at 8 p.m. at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley.

Mrs. Kahler, 64, died Saturday at a local hospital after a long illness.

A native of San Luis Obispo, she lived in Mill Valley for 38 years. She resided at 71 Mountain View Avenue.

She was a member of the Outdoor Art Club.

She is survived by her husband, G. W. Kahler, a retired electrical engineer; a son, G. W. Kahler Jr., also of Mill Valley, and two grandchildren.

Her family asked that memorial contributions be made to the Marin County Heart Assn.

HARRY MILLER

Funeral for Harry Miller, 76, of Little Rock, Ark., who died, apparently of a heart attack, while visiting his daughter in Marinwood, will be held in Little Rock.

Miller, a retired grocer, collapsed Saturday while on the patio at the home of Mrs. Mary Wood at 295 Adobestone Court and was dead on arrival at Novato General Hospital, reported Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley.

Miller and his wife, Elizabeth N. Miller, were on a trip to California to visit with their children and were planning to go on a weekend fishing trip to Lake Berryessa.

Miller was a deacon in the Little Rock Baptist Church for more than 20 years.

He is survived by his wife; three daughters, Mrs. Wood; Mrs. Cary Alford of Little Rock, and Mrs. Betty Mitchell of Los Angeles; four sons, Robert Miller of Longview, Tex.; Beeson Miller of Little Rock, and Orice and Joseph Miller, of Camarillo, Ventura County; 21 grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren.

ELMER NELSON

Funeral for Elmer T. Nelson Sr. will be tomorrow at 10 a.m. at St. Monica's Church in San Francisco. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

Nelson died Friday in a local hospital after a short illness. He was 75.

He was a native of San Francisco and worked with both the City of San Francisco and the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. as an electrician. Nelson belonged to the Electrical Workers Union, Local 6.

Historic Sanctuary
Over 90 years ago, Marin pioneers dedicated beautiful Mount Tamalpais Cemetery as a resting place for their loved ones. Close to the heart of the county, this lovely 50-acre site is a natural sanctuary—abounding in trees and views typical of the county. Here every type of final resting place is available, including ground interment, mausoleum entombment and cremation. We cordially invite your visit. Our staff is always ready to answer your questions.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

American Government Teachers Not All Are Registered To Vote

"The National Education Assn. is proud of the fact that over 90 per cent of the teaching profession registers and votes in a typical national election," wrote William G. Carr, executive secretary of the NEA, last year in the NEA Journal.

In a stirring editorial headed, "Fit to Teach — Fit to Vote," Carr declared:

"Any teacher who is not now registered should seek to take this step promptly."

It would seem logical to expect that, of all teachers, those who teach the high school American Government course required by California state law would be most likely to be registered voters. However, if a sample county checked by this writer is typical, far less than 90 per cent of them are eligible to cast ballots next month.

With registration rolls closed for the Nov. 8 general election, 25 per cent of the teachers of the American Government course in the county checked were not registered.

The county checked was Marin, which usually is well to the top in percentage of voter registration and voter turnout.

There are seven public high schools in the county. Among them, they have 24 teachers instructing the 12th grade American Government class this school year. Six of those teachers are not on the registration rolls.

Seventeen of the 24 teachers reside within Marin County. Of these, five are not registered.

Seven reside in the neighboring counties of Alameda, San Francisco, and Sonoma. Of these, one—a San Francisco resident—is ineligible to vote, having failed to vote in the June primary and therefore been purged from the registration roll. The registration of one in Sonoma County may be in doubt, the address on the roll being different from that at which he is listed by the school district.

Incidentally, an interesting sidelight is that of the 12 American Government teachers registered to vote in Marin County, nine are registered as Democrats, two as non-partisan, and only one as Republican. Yet Marin is one of only three counties in California in which registered Republicans outnumber Democrats.

The high school American Government course is given to fulfill the requirements of Section 7700(b) of the California Education Code, which directs that the course of study for seventh through 12th grades shall include five years of history courses, among them being "10 semester periods of American government emphasizing principles of the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence, and the principles of state and local government under the consitution of this state."

The course is customarily given in the 12th grade, putting the capstone on the history and civics courses offered during junior high and high school years.

The monolithic California Education Code is redundantly insistent upon the importance of American government studies in the schools. Not content with the requirements laid down in Section 7700, it provides in Section 7901:

"In all public and private schools located within the state, there shall be given regular courses of instruction in the Constitution of the United States, and in American history, including the study of American institutions and ideals. In all public and private schools located within the state, there shall be given instruction in the Constitution of the State of California, and in California history and civics."

Where 25 per cent of the teachers of American Government classes in high school are found ineligible to vote through failure to register, a question naturally arises:

Do these teachers think the subject they are teaching is really important?

You are cordially invited to attend

Tight Money For Housing To Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President of the National League of Insured Savings Assns. says he expects the current shortage of money for housing to continue through the middle of next year.

And, added Harry P. Greep, high interest rates on the small amount of money that is available for home loans also will continue into next summer.

"A careful study of the problem indicates that federal authorities will be required to take further regulatory steps to assist savings institutions before they will be in any position to resume normal mortgage lending operations," Greep said.

The tight money situation, he explained Saturday night in a report prepared for the league's annual meeting in San Juan, Puerto Rico, already has forced the number of housing starts this year to drop to 1.2 million units from 1.5 million in 1965.

Soldiers Want Simple Things For Christmas

WASHINGTON (AP) —All I want for Christmas, says the typical U.S. serviceman overseas, are things made by my family at home.

That, explains the American Red Cross, is a consensus of a survey of its field directors stationed with the troops at home and abroad.

The survey indicates that most servicemen prefer the more personal and meaningful presents to luxury items, which they often can buy more cheaply at post exchanges.

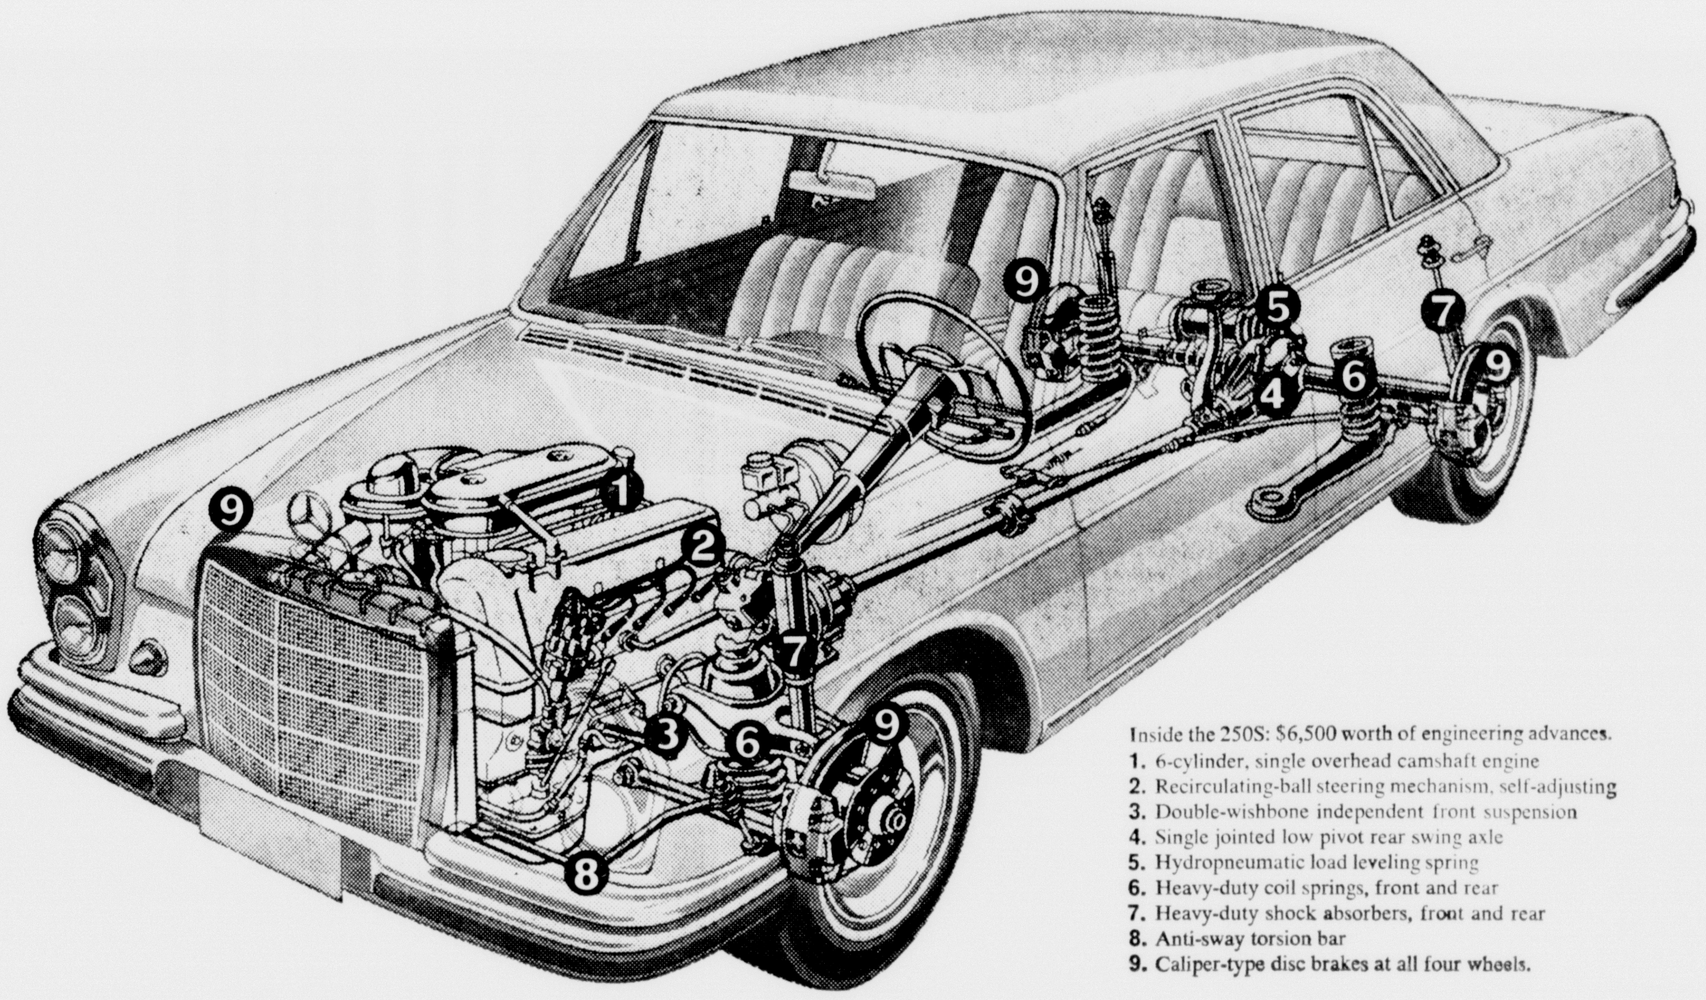

Suggestions on the Red Cross' gift list include sweaters, socks, family photographs, hometown newspapers and school periodicals and recorded messages.

Charter Discussed

Inside the 250S: $6,500 worth of engineering advances.
1. 6-cylinder, single overhead camshaft engine
2. Recirculating-ball steering mechanism, self-adjusting
3. Double-wishbone independent front suspension
4. Single jointed low pivot rear swing axle
5. Hydropneumatic load leveling spring
6. Heavy-duty coil springs, front and rear
7. Heavy-duty shock absorbers, front and rear
8. Anti-sway torsion bar
9. Caliper-type disc brakes at all four wheels.

Mercedes-Benz engineers designed an efficient machine, then sheathed it in a functional rattle-proof body. Result: a $6,500 car without an ounce of fat, studded with benefits like brakes that don't fade and a suspension that won't wallow. Read more about this amazing 5-passenger sedan—already acclaimed as one of the world's great road cars.

THE MERCEDES-BENZ 250S rudely jolts those raised on the myth that a fine car must be a huge car.

This 4-door sedan measures two feet shorter bumper to bumper than its domestic $6,500 rivals. Yet you and four adult passengers fit comfortably inside. All that's missing is needless bulk—and good riddance.

The Mercedes-Benz 250S is a sedan designed for people, not styled for fashion. No frills, no gimcracks—and no annual model betrayal.

Trim cars finish first

Sane size and scrupulous engineering lend the 250S a set of reflexes closer to sports cars than other $6,500 automobiles.

Where they are sluggish, it is deft. Where they are spongy, it is taut. And where the sleek giants are a chore to maneuver, the 250S is effortless.

5,200 engineering patents

This welcome trait rests on a bedrock of skilled and stubborn engineering, as much a part of Mercedes-Benz as the famous 3-pointed-star radiator emblem.

Some specifics: The company's founders invented the first automobile. The company's cars have won over 4,400 motor sport competitions. And the engineering staff has been awarded more than 5,200 patents.

Any old road will do

Rough roads are no problem for the 250S: "It is capable of sustained high speeds on any surface—from the glossy new asphalt of Hockenheim racing circuit to a tortuous little dirt road in upstate New York," reports Car and Driver magazine.

The 250S is connected to the roadway by a fully independent, rear swing axle suspension system, directly adapted from a world championship Mercedes-Benz racing machine.

Mercedes-Benz test drivers regularly whip the 250S over a 240-mile test course that coils through the Black Forest. The pace is merciless. The average time: 3½ hours.

430 square inches of brake surface

The sheer stopping power of the 250S may be its greatest technical feat.

"The car has enormous braking power," said Car and Driver, concluding that "...it proved itself to be better than any other sedan we've ever driven."

Grand Prix racing machines use 4-wheel disc brakes, and so does the 250S. In violent panic stops, an automatic valve in the brake system keeps front and rear braking forces balanced. Gone is that chilling fear of the rear wheels locking up and causing a skid.

You command 430 square inches of brake surface area—pleasantly absurd for a car that weighs 3,000 pounds.

2.5 liters of common sense

The fastest speed ever set on a public road was recorded by a special Mercedes-Benz almost 30 years ago. But speed alone isn't enough for a passenger car. Accordingly, Mercedes-Benz engineers designed an engine for the 250S that strikes a fine balance between power and fuel economy.

The smooth result: a 6-cylinder, single overhead camshaft engine. It's half as big as the average $6,500 car's engine, it could run for weeks at 90 mph, and it serves up 20 miles per gallon in normal use.

Note: A fragile engine wouldn't last long in Germany. The Autobahns have no speed limits.

A thump, not a wobble

Its workings are encased in a "unit" body, built up from 16 different sheet metal gauges and welded at 10,000 points into a tight, sturdy steel cage. Pound the roof—you hear a dull "thump." Slam the door—it clunks shut.

Inspect underneath and you'll find a 24-pound layer of undercoating. Another 24 pounds of primer go on the body before the enamel finish does. If you could see inside the rocker panels you'd find them brushed with zinc, to help foil the corrosion that condensation can breed.

Space without waste

The 250S interior has been so efficiently laid out that you'll find more rear seat hiproom than in the splendid new Rolls-Royce Silver Shadow. Up front, driver and passenger luxuriate in a pair of individual chair-like seats with fully reclining backs.

Orthopedic physicians helped shape these seats to reduce fatigue. Beneath the cushioning, seat springs are tuned to the car's suspension motions—an ingenious way to snub out millions of tiny, tiring oscillations.

The safety question

Mercedes-Benz is not a giant automobile company, but its concern for safety and the measures taken to protect those who ride in its cars are second to none.

Front and rear body sections are designed to yield on violent impact, absorbing shock before it can reach the passenger area.

Mercedes-Benz motor cars: from $25,785 to $4,189

You may be able to afford a Mercedes-Benz without knowing it. Below are suggested retail prices for 7 of the 15 Mercedes-Benz models:*

600 Grand Mercedes	$25,785
300SE Coupe	11,916
230SL Roadster	6,262
230S Sedan	5,018
230 Sedan	4,386
200 Diesel Sedan	4,418
200 Sedan	4,189

West Coast ports of entry, exclusive of options, state and local taxes if any.*

Inside, you will not find any chrome daggers or raw metal edges. The rearview mirror is set to snap off if struck. Upper and lower instrument panel edges are padded. The steering wheel hub is a padded plate, not a lance. Inside door handles are recessed. Even the window cranks have been padded.

Safety is a moral obligation to the men who build these cars—and one they take seriously.

About that price: Included in the $6,500 price are a 4-speed automatic transmission, power-assisted steering and electrically operated side windows. By omitting these extras, you can bring the price to $5,998—and still have a remarkably well-equipped automobile.

TROUPER MARTHA RAYE

From Viet Stages To Field Hospital

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Comedienne Martha Raye, a front-line trouper for 24 years, changed her routine last week. She donned fatigues and worked for two days in an Army field dispensary, cleansing wounds, changing bandages and comforting GIs wounded in a Mekong Delta battle.

The twangy-voiced brunette, who has gone from outpost to tiny outpost throughout Viet Nam to entertain American servicemen, sang, danced and ribbed the men of two Army aviation helicopter companies stationed in the Mekong Delta town of Soc Trang.

The next morning, the chopper pilots and their crews delivered Vietnamese soldiers to the paddy fields and marshlands of the delta to charge the entrenched Viet Cong. As the first helicopters settled into the landing zones, they were met by intense fire. The landing zones were in the stronghold of a Viet Cong battalion.

Additional troops were brought in, and in the battle that followed four American helicopters were shot down and 20 were damaged. American casualties began arriving by 8 a.m. at the small Soc Trang dispensary.

Miss Raye, a former nurse, arrived about the same time, dressed in Army fatigues and volunteering for duty.

"She worked all day — until 9 that night — doing everything she could," one corpsman said.

One of the first things she did was donate a pint of blood to a badly wounded sergeant. Then it was hour after hour of scrubbing and preparing the wounded for surgery, helping the surgeons, changing bandages, and cheering up men awaiting evacuation to field hospitals in Vung Tau or Saigon.

Miss Raye's show did not go on that night. The next morning she was back at the hospital in her stained fatigues, helping the one doctor and eight corpsmen care for the patients.

Nixon: Demos Now Party Of Backlash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says "the Democratic party now nationally has become the party of the backlash." But Sen. Paul H. Douglas, a Democrat, says Republicans are trying to stir a backlash against him in the Illinois Senate race.

Nixon spoke in New York yesterday on a television interview program and Douglas was on another program from Chicago.

Also in New York, Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., was accusing extremists of spending $12 million in congressional races to spread "hate and bigotry."

And a report last night from the National Committee for an Effective Congress, which calls itself nonpartisan, said "right wing extremists have been able to collect over $1.2 million" for the congressional campaign.

Nixon said Democrats had become the party of backlash by refusing to disavow segregationist gubernatorial nominees Lester G. Maddox of Georgia and Jim Johnson of Arkansas, Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama and open housing foe George Mahoney, candidate for governor of Maryland.

Nixon declared, "I don't know one Republican candidate who is riding the backlash."

Nixon acknowledged on the NBC radio-television program "Meet the Press" that some Republican candidates in the South are not integrationists but explained, they "are not racial demagogues. They are not trying to capitalize on the race issue."

Douglas said that in the Chicago area, "in many of the wards where it is thought there is a white backlash, the Republican precinct captains are spreading the word that I and the Democratic party are forcing the Negro upon them."

"Now it is being done quietly but it is being done very firmly," he said yesterday on CBS' "Face the Nation." "And I simply say that that is not my position. But I don't blow kisses to the segregationists." Douglas termed himself a racial moderate and said Negro extremists do not support him.

HST Has Advice For Gov Brown

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Brown today had some advice from an old master at the art of coming from behind to win.

"Trust to the good sense and judgment of the people. I always did," said former President Harry Truman in a letter to his Democratic colleague, whom polls show trailing Republican Ronald Reagan.

KENNEDY HELPS

Brown, who has said often in the past few weeks he'd like to match Truman's comeback victory over Thomas Dewey in 1948, had help over the weekend from another famous name —U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

Kennedy, drawing big crowds in appearances throughout the state, called for Brown's reelection and said the governor's defeat by Reagan could mean students would have to pay tuition at the University of California and state colleges.

Reagan also spent a busy weekend during which he brushed off references by newsmen to Kennedy's visit by calling it "part of the tourist trade from the East."

NO OUTSIDE HELP

"This election is properly between Californians and their candidates. We'll ask no outside help," said Reagan.

Republican Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan scheduled his third formal news conference since 1948 — the second having come three weeks ago.

Jordan indicated he would make a major policy statement on voting requirements. In his other news conference, he suggested lowering the voting age from 21 to 19 years old.

In another weekend development, former GOP Lt. Gov. Harold J. (Butch) Powers ripped a Republican group for asserting Reagan's election would end "12 years of cynical machine politics."

POWERS ATTACH

Powers, who served under Republican Gov. Goodwin Knight from 1954-58, likened the statement by the United Republican Finance Committee of Los Angeles to "the same violent aggression toward moderate Republicans that Barry Goldwater displayed in 1964 with such disastrous consequences."

Powers said he was proud of the Knight administration's record "and the eight Democratic years which followed have likewise been constructive and sound."

Powers serves on the State Department of Professional and Vocational Standards under Brown.

PLAN UNREALISTIC

And Brown won endorsement yesterday from the Long Beach Independent Press-Telegram, which said of the incumbent:

"If a superior record for getting things done deserves a reward, then ... Brown deserves to be elected for another term in Sacramento." The newspaper said Reagan "has told us much about what he thinks is wrong, but very little about what he would do."

Mimic Disease Linked Closely To Real Killer

HARRIMAN, N.Y. (AP) — The nation's physicians were urged today to be alert for a prime "masquerader" of tragically crippling muscular dystrophy — lest they miss or delay attacking a treatable disease.

The "mimic" disease — treatable by drugs of the cortisone family — is a muscle-weakening malady called "polymyositis."

And it can often be confused by the unwary with muscular dystrophy, for which there are no drugs or other effective treatments, said Dr. Carl M. Pearson, professor of medicine at the University of California at Los Angeles school of medicine.

Muscular dystrophy affects at least 200,000 persons in the United States alone and polymyositis strikes nearly half as many others, he said.

He told about it in addressing an unusual international conference on "Exploratory Concepts in Muscular Dystrophy and Related Disorders," and he amplified in an interview.

The conference, sponsored by the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, is being held at Arden House, a mountain-top mansion given to Columbia University by now Ambassador W. Averill Harriman as a site for conferences on "complex national problems" in various fields.

Nearly 100 scientists are attending.

Express Slams Into Passengers; 25 Listed Dead

CALCUTTA, India (AP) —A speeding express plowed into a group of passengers crossing the track at Lakhiserai railroad station last night and the Indian News Agency reported today at least 25 persons were killed. At least a dozen others were injured.

Lakhiserai is about 380 miles northwest of Calcutta. Reports said the express, which does not stop at Lakhiserai, was bound from Calcutta for Mithila. The victims, the reports said, were passengers who had just disembarked from another train and were crossing the track to reach another platform. The approach of the express apparently was not noticed in the darkness.

Israel Raps Syria Again For Mines

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Israel blamed Syria today for two more mine-laying raids into her territory and said they proved the need for preventive action by the U.N. Security Council.

Israeli Ambassador Michael S. Comay wrote a letter on the incidents to Lord Caradon of Britain, the current president of the council who was planning another council meeting tomorrow on Israeli charges against Syria made Oct. 12.

Comay's letter said an army vehicle in northeastern Israel was damaged Sunday by a mine laid opposite the Syrian military position of Tel Azaz Iyat and only three yards from another land-mine explosion reported last Tuesday.

He said there had been four "mine-laying outrages at this same spot in less than seven weeks" at distances of 600 to 900 yards from the Syrian position.

The Beirut, Lebanon, paper Al Moharrer reported today that Israeli and Jordanian border patrols are cooperating to capture Arab guerrillas responsible for raids into Israel. There was no confirmation of the report.

Scientist Halts Lung Cancer In Animals With Vitamin A

TOKYO (AP) — Big doses of vitamin A can halt or prevent development of lung cancer in animals, a scientist reported today.

He has found a way of inducing lung cancer — the same kind that humans get — in hamsters. But when he also feeds them vitamin A, very few come down with lung tumors.

His findings, he stressed, are by no means an invitation for cigarette smokers or people living in air-polluted areas to start gulping down vitamin A, or lots of carrots which are rich in the vitamin. Too much vitam A can be harmful to humans.

Dr. Umberto Saffiotti, Italian-born pathologist now at the Chicago Medical School, described his research at opening scientific sessions of the Ninth International Cancer Congress. He amplied them in an interview.

He turned up evidence that dust particles in the air, or in cigarette smoke, can be the "carriers" to take cancer-causing chemicals into the lungs.

Using hamsters, he prepared inert dust particles to which were attached crystals of a potent cancer-caused benzpyrene. Benzpyrene is found in smoke or exhausts from industrial plants, automobiles, coal furnaces, and also in cigarette smoke.

He injected this material down the windpipes of hamsters, rather than letting them breathe it in over a pariod of months or years. He could follow what happened because the benzpyrene fluoresces.

Hamsters given dust only, without benzpyrene, did not get tumors.

Looking for a way to prevent the cancers, Dr. Saffiotti gave some hamsters — already treated with combined dust — two 5,000-unit feedings of vitamin A. Only one developed a tumor, compared with 30 per cent of a group of dusted mice not getting the vitamin.

Boys Charged With Car Theft

Three Santa Rosa boys were arrested Saturday and charged with car theft by Corte Madera police.

Police responded to a call that boys were searching unlocked cars in the Corte Madera Shopping Center at 11:10 a.m. The boys, two 13 and one 14 years old, were reported as runaways from Santa Rosa. They were driving a stolen 1959 Rambler, according to police.

The three were taken to Marin County juvenile hall.

Owner Reports His Labrador Dog Shot

Kenneth R. Devlin of 166 Redwood Drive, Woodacre, complained to sheriff's deputies Tuesday that someone shot his Labrador dog in the hip with a .22-caliber bullet Oct. 16.

Deputies said there have been several instances of dogs and cats in the San Geronimo Valley being shot in the last few months.

Car Radio Stolen

Alexis Alan Melteff of 65 Wellington Avenue, Ross, told Ross police yesterday that a $20 radio was stolen from his Jaguar car, parked in a vacant lot next to his home sometime since Oct. 17.

Sterile Space Lab Announced

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Keeping earth microbes from being carried to Mars and Venus will be the job of a $1.5-million laboratory to be built at Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

Parts of Voyager spacecraft to be launched toward the planets in the 1970s will be sterilized by heat and ethylene oxide gas in a 1,000-square-foot "clean room." Testing of methods will start in mid-1967.

Unmanned Voyagers are to fly by, orbit and land capsules on Mars and Venus in attempts to learn whether any form of life exists there.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

New Discovery Now Makes It Possible to Shrink And Heal Hemorrhoids Without Surgery

Stops Itch — Relieves Pain In Minutes

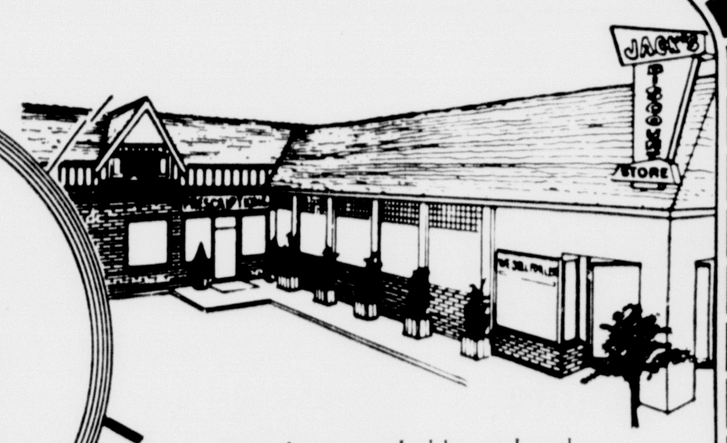

New York, N. Y. (Special): A world-famous institute has discovered a new substance which has the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids without surgery. The sufferer first notices almost unbelievable relief in minutes from itching, burning and pain. Then this substance speeds up healing of the injured tissues all while it quickly reduces painful swelling.

Tests conducted under a doctor's observations proved this so — even in cases of 10 to 20 years' standing. The secret is the new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — now offered in both ointment or suppository form called Preparation H®.

In addition to actually shrinking piles — Preparation H lubricates and makes bowel movements less painful. It helps to prevent infection (a principal cause of hemorrhoids).

Only Preparation H contains this magic new substance which quickly helps heal injured cells back to normal and stimulates regrowth of healthy tissue again. Just ask for Preparation H Ointment or Preparation H Suppositories (easier to use away from home). Available at all drug counters.

TO— THOSE WHO ARE USING A MAIL ORDER PRESCRIPTION SERVICE

You have probably reduced your medical expense by buying your prescriptions through mail order channels, even though at times it has been a rather inconvenient process.

Two Soldiers Claim Beating On Highway

Two soldiers stationed at the San Rafael Nike base, one of whom is due to leave for Viet Nam Wednesday, were attacked yesterday by occupants of three cars who boxed them in in the northbound center lane of Highway 101 opposite Bermuda Palms.

The soldiers were unable to explain what precipitated the attack. Motorists in the northbound lanes, coming upon the four cars, went by in the right lane and no report of the incident was received until the two soldiers called San Rafael police.

Robert E. Parult, an enlisted man in C Battery of the 51st Artillery, told police that a 1956 Chevrolet repeatedly tried to cut them off as they traveled north toward San Rafael last evening.

The Chevrolet, and two other cars, succeeded in stopping the soldiers in the center lane opposite the hotel—one car in front, one in back and the third stopped alongside in the left lane.

Parult said a youth in the Chevrolet jumped out, came back to the soldiers' car, and started hitting William R. Burns, the driver, with a ballpeen hammer.

Burns, also an enlisted man stationed at the Nike base, was struck on the body and legs as he tried to fend off the blows by sticking his legs out of the car.

As Parult leaped from the car to help Burns, he was tackled from behind by occupants of the rear car and kicked unconscious.

Youths in two of the cars then sped away as Burns went to Parult's aid. The car stopped behind them had trouble starting and Parult told police the occupants had to push it several yards before it drove away.

Neither soldier could furnish police with a description of two of the cars, other than there were "three or four" youths in each.

After Parult was revived, the two drove into San Rafael where they notified police of the attack.

Court Agrees To Review Viet Pickets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to review conviction of 17 persons on disorderly conduct charges as a result of a street meeting in Duffy Square in New York City to protest American involvement in the Viet Nam war.

The meeting was held in late afternoon of Aug. 8, 1964, in the square, which is at 47th Street and Broadway in Manhattan. The appeal to the Supreme Court said the meeting was under auspices of a group called the "May 2nd Movement" which had been formed a few months previously at Yale University.

The appeal said sentence were suspended on all persons except Albert Maher, Levi Laub and Vincent Copeland. Their sentences were $25 fine or five days in jail.

All 17 persons joined in the appeal to the high tribunal. They contended convictions for holding a street meeting to express political dissent violated the constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and assembly.

Christmas Display Will Be Considered

Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission will consider the Christmas display program for the town civic center Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at town hall.

The commission will also consider a request for plants from the Corte Madera Merchants Council.

Girls Returned To Local Custody

Two 15-year-old girls, both escapees from Marin County juvenile hall, were taken into custody Saturday by Corte Madera police, and two men with the girls were charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Charles Horne, 24, of 190 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, was held at Marin County jail today on $550 bail. Arthur L. Battensby, 18, of 142 Willow Avenue, Corte Madera, was released on $550 bail.

Police found the girls sitting in a car in front of Battensby's apartment at 10 p.m. Saturday. Police found open beer cans in the car.

Three In Family Slain In Tallahassee Home

TALLAHASSEE Fla. (AP) — The killer of a Florida Department of Education official and his 12-year-old daughter in their fashionable home left no clues and Sheriff William Joyce said today no motive had been found.

Killed Saturday night were Robert W. Sims, 42, director of data processing, and his daughter, Joy Lynn. Each had been bound, gagged and shot once in the head. The daughter had seven stab wounds in the chest and abdomen.

Sim's wife, Helen, was bound, gagged and shot twice in the head and once in the leg. She was in "very critical" condition at Tallahassee Memorial Hospital.

All three were blindfolded and their hands tied behind their backs before being shot with what was believed to be a .38-caliber pistol.

"At this point we can find no motive," Sheriff Joyce said. "There was no sign of disorder in the house and the money and valuables were intact."

Another daughter, Jeanette, 17, discovered the two bodies and her wounded mother when she returned home from a football game about 11:15 p.m. Saturday. The ranch-style house is in the $25,000 class.

Sims was lying on the bed in the master bedroom and his wife and child on the floor. They had been gagged and bound with ties and socks.

A neighbor reported that she heard high-pitched screams about 10:45 p.m. but thought they came from children. Other residents of the area said they heard nothing.

Sims, a native of Meridian, Mass., was a graduate of Mississippi Southern and received his doctor's degree from FSU in 1961.

Sims went to work for the education department in 1956 on a part-time basis and joined the department full-time in 1958.

Mrs. Sims is a native of Middleton, Tenn.

U.N. Flag Stolen

A United Nations flag was stolen Saturday from the home of Donald A. Kase, 301 Monte Vista Avenue, Mill Valley, police reported today. Kase said the flag was worth $4.50.

Annexation Study Set By Trustees

Proposed annexation to Sausalito School District of the western side of Tennessee Valley, now half in Mill Valley district, will be considered by Mill Valley trustees at 8 p.m. today at 26 Miller Avenue.

Also on the agenda is a recommendation by city planning director Harvey E. Bragdon for creation of a cul-de-sac at the East Blithedale Avenue end of Catalpa Avenue. The cul-de-sac would permit the school district to expand Park School onto the present alignment of the street.

Phone Company Workers Reach Wage Agreement

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A wage agreement providing weekly increases as high as $13 has been reached for more than 36,000 telephone company employees in California and Nevada.

Richard Hackler, district vice president of the Communication Workers of America (CWA), AFL-CIO, announced the settlement with Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. and the Bell Telephone Co. of Nevada Sunday. Members of the CWA must ratify the pact by Nov. 4.

Hackler said the agreement provides basic salary hikes from $3.50 to $8 per week and, in some cases, as high as $13 a week. The pact also included other benefits such as medical and insurance. It is retroactive to Oct. 16.

Don't Riot Because You're Poor, Negro Mother Urges

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A Sacramento Negro mother of five has launched a personal campaign against rioting, saying "you don't solve your problems by going into the streets to scream and throw things and act like animals just because you're poor."

"Negro mothers you are to blame for riots and destruction," read a placard carried by Mrs. Blanche Hill.

Mrs. Hill carried her sign Saturday in the shopping district of Sacramento's Negro Oak Park section.

"I have as much reason to be bitter as any of them," Mrs. Hill said of rioters. "I haven't seen my husband in six years. I have had to raise five children on about $250 a month. I have been denied jobs for which I am qualified."

Mrs. Hill said she believes "a nobody can talk to a nobody . . . None of the community organizations work," she commented. "They never get out and see what these people are talking about."

"Negro mothers take your youths in hand," Mrs. Hill's card read.

Sorich Ranch Plan Will Be Discussed

San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission will review estimates and set a date to interview planning firms on the Sorich Ranch master plan at 7:30 p.m. today at city hall.

A final draft of the proposed tree ordinance, requiring a permit for cutting trees on all but single family residential property, will be considered.

Painstaking Study Results In Perfect Braille Matter

Thirty-five pages of Braille reading matter, perfectly transcribed.

This end product of nearly four years of painstaking study has won for each of two Marin County women a certificate of proficiency from the Library of Congress.

Opal Clark of Larkspur and Mrs. Sibyl Schneller of Mill Valley are the latest members in a group of women to get this award from the library, which is the supporting agency for the volunteer Braille workshops across the country.

The women call themselves Transcribing Mariners and meet once a month in a rented cottage in Kentfield.

In 1962 the band of volunteers was formed when the women felt the need for production of Braille workbooks not usually available through schools and libraries.

For most of the 10 members of the group, that four years has been spent in mastering the intricate language of Braille.

They all started at adult classes at College of Marin. After the first year, studying three hours a week in class and one hour a day at home, two years had to be spent in constant practice of more than an hour a day.

"Learning Braille is a long process requiring a great deal of time and patience," explained Laura Bosworth, another member of the group who has gained her certificate. A fourth certificate holder is chairman Mrs. Lee Marriott of San Rafael.

Miss Bosworth is a field worker with the Marin County schools office and spends her day helping blind children throughout the area.

"Several other members are working hard for their certificates and now that results are being seen we can concentrate on the purpose for which we were formed — to supply text books," she said.

Like other volunteers around the county, the members of Transcribing Mariners get no pay for what they do and have to provide much of their own equipment.

The Lions Club has, however, helped financially and the group has now three donated transcribing machines to work with. Donations have also come in from other sources.

Students to the Braille classes, meeting at the College of Marin each Thursday at 7 p.m., provide their own slate, stylus, Braille paper and book costing about $5.

"Eventually, a Braille writing machine is essential," said Miss Bosworth, "but we don't expect the students to pay the $90 cost of one of these at the beginning."

Burglars Take $37 From Cash Register

Burglars took cash from the San Anselmo Pharmacy cash register yesterday, according to San Anselmo police.

George Fagan, owner of the pharmacy at 312 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, discovered the theft when he opened the store at 7 p.m. yesterday. He told police the thieves had taken $37.83 and left $10 in the register.

AT COW PALACE

Novatan Will Add Color To Show

By DOROTHY NEWELL

If the Wizard of Oz really wanted to see horses of a different color, he should go to the opening night of the Grand National Livestock Exposition at the Cow Palace in San Francisco on Friday.

It will be a mass of color literally as the color guards parade around the big arena.

One of the most colorful of all the color guards will be the 4-M Mounted Patrol, Women's Auxiliary of the Marin County Sheriff's Mounted Patrol. Their horses, saddles, bridles and tails will all be decked out with flowers.

MRS. A. R. BORN of Novato, chairman of the patrol color guard has spent many long hours for many weeks in preparation for the event.

A theme of various shades of pink and white will be carried out on the bay horses as well as the riders. The women will be dressed in white breeches, boots and hats and bright pink shirts. The horses will be wearing white breast collars, bridle, saddle blanket and tail decorated with plastic flowers.

FOR THE ORIGINAL and colorful idea, Mrs. Born combined another hobby, working with plastics, to decorate the horses.

She began making plastic flowers on Sept. 10. Each flower is cut from white paper, then the individual petals are molded around wire. The flowers are then painted individually with colored or clear liquid resin. The Born garage was a mass of vivid pink and white as the flowers were hung on clothes lines to dry.

To set the resin, the flowers are placed in a warm oven which is most time consuming as the flowers can not touch one another while damp or they will stick together.

Mrs. Born, a native San Franciscan, had formerly had ceramics as a hobby before moving to Novato so the plastic hobby was a natural. But how did she become interested in horses?

"We moved to Novato three years ago," Elaine Born said, "when Art became project manager of the Santa Rosa freeway. "Art said as long as we were going to live in the country we should get some horses and dress western," the feminine Elaine said.

"I WAS DEATHLY afraid of horses and it embarrassed me to think of wearing western clothes," she said. (She now admits that she has worn out 4 pairs of western boots since moving to Novato.)

However to overcome her fears, she secretly took private lessons with Douglas Robb, then with Meadow Brook stables in Novato, twice a week for four months.

"I also read books about horses and came to respect them, she said.

She now jokingly tells of the time when she was riding her horse, he came to a sudden stop and she went flying over his head. She admitted that she still needs to learn to jump fences for emergencies on trail rides and talking to this petite horsewoman, you know she will accomplish it.

RIDING INTO the arena with Mrs. Born carrying the colors, two American flags, the bear flag and the club flag will be Mrs. William Harrington of San Rafael, Mrs. Ed Williams of Novato and Mrs. Mel Muzinich of Mill Valley .

Horses of different colors have also been seen at the Cow Palace. A few years ago, the 4-M Mounted Patrol color guard rode into the Cow Palace on pink horses. Members of the color guard had tinted their white horses pink.

MRS. BORN REMOVES some of the plastic roses from her oven which are in their final stage of preparation in her Novato home. The roses in shades of pink and white were made to decorate the horses' bridles, breast collar, saddle blanket and tail.

MRS. ARTHUR BORN of Novato, chairman of the 4-M Mounted Patrol color guard, the Women's Auxiliary of the Marin County Sheriff's Mounted Patrol and her horse, "Clabber" give a prevue showing for the Grand National Livestock Exposition to begin at the Cow Palace on Friday. Mrs. Born and other members of the color guard, Mesdames William Harrington, Ed Williams and Mel Muzinich, will be carrying the flags, with riders and horses in colors of pink and white. Talks On Troubled Child Are Planned

Dr. Marilyn Lucia, child psychiatrist, will be the featured speaker at the first of three sessions on "The Troubled Child" to be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the multipurpose room of the Bernard Hoffman Elementary School in Terra Linda.

The symposium is being presented as a public service by the Marin Assn. for Mental Health. Dr. Lucia will speak on the subject: "Do You Have a Problem or Just a Puzzle? Normal Versus Abnormal Behavior in Childhood."

DR. MARILYN LUCIA

Dr. Lucia has been on the staff at the University of California Medical Center since 1960 as associate psychiatrist and clinical instructor in psychiatry. She is also director of the Developmental Guidance Center and Nursery School of San Francisco.

She was graduated from University of California and received her M. D. from the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco. She interned at Stanford and took her residency in Psychiatry at Langley Porter Neuro-Psychiatric Institute at U. C., and her child psychiatry residency at the Mount Zion Medical Center.

Moderator for the symposium will be Jack Danielson, school psychologist, Dixie School District. The program on Nov. 2 will be a panel discussion on Community Resources. The speaker for the final session on Nov. 9 will be Dr. George M. Keranem, Director of Research, Institute for Research in Childhood Health and Education, Walnut Creek, who will discuss "Predictive Factors in Childhood Behavior." Group discussion will follow.

Donna Phillips Weds J. Bradford Davis

Saturday evening at 6 o'clock, the wedding of Donna R. Phillips and J. Bradford Davis of Novato took place at Chapel 1 at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Phillips of the Base, wore a full length gown of white satin and imported lace. Her matron of honor, Mrs. John L. Arbuckle of San Rafael, wore a pale yellow gown. Bridesmaids Linda Thompson of San Diego and Laura Rolston of Sunnyvale wore gowns in pale green. Carline Thompson of San Diego was flower girl and Scott Winnans of Hayward was ringbearer.

Acting as best man was Edward Maloney of Berkeley and ushering were James and Paul Phillips of Fresno, brothers of the bride.

Following a reception at the Non Commissioned Officers Club, the couple left on a wedding trip to Carmel. They will make their home in Berkeley.

Both bride and bridegroom attended San Rafael High School. Bradford is a student at University of California and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon E. Davis of Novato.

Donna, the sister of Ronald Phillips of Fresno, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cooper of Castro Valley.

'Carnaby' Draws Both Men, Women

LONDON (UPI) — A three-block, narrow back street called "Carnaby" is the setting these days for the bulk of the fashion news London is making for the world.

Every week, not just twice a year, there is something new to wear in the street's shops and boutiques. And the Carnaby Street regulars are there making the fashion scene.

The same switched-on crowd comes looking for the latest in outfits every week, and they come in pairs. Male and female. Only very young girls shop together.

They browse through clothes in "mates," where mini-skirts hang side-by-side with paisley trousers for men. They pause by John Stephens' custom tailor shop and discuss whether he should save and have a suit designed especially for him. They enter the chalk-white interior of "Foale and Tuffin" to inspect the latest Western-inspired trouser suits for her.

They scrutinize what their fellow shoppers wear — and what the salesgirls and salesmen wear, which is usually the best of the latest "gear."

Then they start trying on. In a Carnaby Street boutique this can be pretty exciting.

The changing booths in "The Village Store" are, for instance, tentlike cubicles on a wickerwork base, hung with brilliant orange and pink art-noveau drapes. Other shops have swinging doors, like those on a Wild West saloon, which leave head and shoulders and most of your legs exposed. They're not for the modest, but then neither is Carnaby Street.

HELEN HELP US!

DEAR HELEN:

Yeah, I know having a baby is just great, but can't my wife think of anything else? The more she expands, the more she beams in on one subject. She measures her middle every day to see how much she's grown. She reads nothing but Dr. Spock. I get a blow-by-blow account of the kicks. He isn't due for two months, but she's got her bag packed, and she is even shopping for baby food!

Will you please tell my wife that having a first baby isn't all that unusual? Almost anyone can do it.—CALM FATHER

DEAR C.F.:

Can you?

So your wife is all Spock and "span." So simmer down and remember a girl can only have a first baby once. She'll outgrow it.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Don't you hate people who ask you a question, then when you start to answer it, their eyes wander off and they stop listening. You say a couple of words — no more — and they either break in with another question or change the conversation around to talk about themselves.

Or if they do let you finish your sentence you can see they haven't heard a word. I swear the next time one of these asks, "What is your husband doing these days?" I'll answer, "Recovering from a mild case of leprosy."

What do you do with people like this?—MIFFED

DEAR MIFFED:

Avoid 'em if possible. If not, well, it's fun to hit them with your kind of answer. Once in a while you get a hilarious double-take.

Note to non-listening questioners: The least you can do is pretend attention. Look at, not over or around the questionee. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm glad to see you take a stand on controversial issues like therapeutic abortions, but I bet you took a shellacking from the militant worriers.

As a doctor, I was asked to appear before a State Legislative Committee considering a possible change in our rigid abortion laws. Naturally I agreed with my colleagues, the State Bar Assn. and most of the legislators present, that abortions in cases of incest, rape, or strong indication of deformity should be legalized, subject to firm control. Yet nothing was done. Why? Because (I was told by a State Senator) the legislators are afraid of the public uproar from "the few who make the most noise."

If the "majority who make the least noise" would become vocal, we'd have a much saner world, eh, Helen?—DR. X.

DEAR DR. X.:

When a writer blasts, "God will punish you for advocating murder!" I wonder, "Would she be so sure if her daughter were the victim of a brutal rapist?" —H.

DEAR HELEN:

My parents left when I was a little boy. I'm ten years old now. They left me with my uncle. He buys me clothes, but calls me dumb and stupid when I make little mistakes.

I haven't seen my mother or father since I was seven. My father told me he would come and see me. He told me that three years ago. I have not seen him since. I am so unhappy I could cry and cry.

Maybe if you put this in your column he might read it and come back.—CRYING ON THE INSIDE

DEAR CRYING:

I hope he reads it and comes back—I'm hoping so hard that surely he must feel it!

But if your parents don't return, try to remember we can't always do the things we want most. And remember, too, that your uncle cares about you. He's your substitute father now, and fathers sometimes lose their tempers with 10-year-old boys, call them "dumb and stupid" before they think.

Be a real son to him (not a dreamer over what is gone) and I think he'll start being a real Dad to you.—H.

Hungry Husbands Groan Over Prices

By SALLY RYAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Hungry husbands, dining on hamburger instead of steak, are groaning with their wives over the rising cost of living.

Wives are asking for more money, and getting it — sometimes at the cost of a vacation, a new car or savings.

"Sure my wife needs more money," said Charles G. Brown, a retired chemical worker in Detroit.

"The cost of food has gone up so much it's getting so all you can afford is hamburger. You can do without a shirt if you have to, but you have to have food."

PATRICK J. NUGENT whistled in dismay the first time he and wife Luci, President Johnson's daughter, bought groceries and the cashier rang up $30.13. He handed the clerk a $50 bill.

An Associated Press survey indicates thousands of husbands are being forced to dig deeper into their pockets to meet household expenses.

Others, however, as Caleb M. Belove, a Kansas City, Mo., insurance agent whose wife works, report no problem.

"THERE'S NO retrenchment in our family," says Belove, father of three. "What we want, we buy. Doesn't everybody? What they can't afford, they charge."

Jay McAmis, a paper company salesman in Salt Lake City, Utah, with four children, says:

"The higher cost of living is catching up with me now. I used to ignore it, hoping it would go away or something. Now I've got to consolidate some of my bills. Especially groceries and clothes for the kids. We drew up a budget two years ago, and I'd say in the last six months it's gone up maybe 25 per cent."

"OUR GROCERY BILL looks like the national war debt," says Tom Babb, a Seattle, Wash., service station attendant and father of five whose food bill has risen by $55 to $75 a month.

"We can't afford bacon so we have fried bologna with our eggs in the morning, and that's no baloney," says Francis X. Carty of Worcester, Mass., a salesman with seven children.

In Braintree, Mass., John Barry, a locksmith, has started carrying sandwiches to work instead of going out to lunch. His wife has taken a job and she's remodeling clothes for their nine children.

Bob Einhouse, a San Francisco stockbroker, reports he has dropped plans to buy a new car and a color television set.

"MY WIFE IS talking about buying cheaper cuts of meat, too," he says.

Baltimore, Md., detective Julius Merkousko, father of three, says: "What little pleasures you did have before, it seems like you can't afford them any more."

"We usually take a summer vacation to Padre Island on the Gulf Coast but we didn't this year, partly because of the higher cost of living," says Jack Kultgen of Dallas, Tex., a college teacher with five children.

TB Protection

EVANSTON, Ill. (UPI)—The American Academy of Pediatrics and the American College of Chest Physicians have recommended that all children between the ages of six and 12 months be tested for tuberculosis.

The tests should be given, if possible, before the child has been vaccinated against measles or smallpox.

Facts On Permanent Press From County Home Advisor

These days of modern fabrics and techniques you hear a lot about permanent press — Mrs. Frances Head, Marin County Home Advisor, has persented the following information about this new process.

What is permanent press?

It is a shape setting process utilized in garment manufacture so that the entire garment is wrinkle-resistant and maintains pressed-in pleats and pressed-open seams when properly constructed.

What fibers may be found in permanent press?

Permanent press articles may be nylon, rayon, acetate, polyester (Dacron, Kodel, Vicron, Fortrel) or acrylic (Acrilan, Orlon, Zefchrome, Zefran); they may be blends of these fibers with cotton; they may be cotton. Fabrics containing blends of polyester and cotton are currently most often found because they have better strength and durability.

Does the permanent press process affect soil removal?

No. There is no difference between permanent press garments and other garments of comparable fiber content in this respect. However, remember that oily soils are more easily removed from cotton than from some man-made fibers; man-made fibers generally give up non-oily soil more readily than cotton.

Does permanent press affect stain removal?

No. The staining characteristics are the same between permanent press garments and other garments of the same fiber content. Follow instructions in any stain removal chart for proper stain removal procedures.

Does permanent press require a special washing cycle?

No. Permanent press garments are made from the same fabrics you have been laundering for years. The same cycles you have been using are still appropriate.

The process which gives the permanent press characteristics does not affect washing procedures. You select the wash and rinse water temperatures in terms of color, fabric, type of soil, and degree of soiling. Use your regular laundry detergent.

Can uniform results be expected from all permanent press?

No, there will still be some variation among various permanent press garments. Your best protection is to purchase products of a quality manufacturer.

Snicker Launches Secretary Into Model Ship Building

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) "My mother said if I had been a boy, I'd have been a sailor, I loved the sea that much."

Speaking is Mrs. Richard Weith, a successful businesswoman who figured that since she couldn't be a mariner she at least could preserve for history the replicas of some of the world's great ships.

THE HOBBY OF Hazel Cox Weith, an attractive blonde, is making ships' models. She is one of three women in the 160-member Shipcraft Guild founded 12 years ago by the late Capt. Ralph Cropley, who had been curator at the Seamen's Church Institute in New York.

The guild is an exclusive organization—only those who do marine paintings and ships models are enrolled. Mrs. Weith is the only feminine model maker.

It can take as long as two years, working in spare moments away from her office job, to produce a good model, she said. That's partly because she works from blueprints and researches a ship's history in detail before starting it.

THE HULL HAS to be carved, sanded and painted; riggings attached; sails cut and sewn to exact dimensions for the rigging.

But according to size, workmanship and fame of the craft, a model is worth anywhere from $1,000 to $3,000, she said.

Mrs. Weith is vice president of Roburn Agencies, Inc., one of the largest exporters in the United States of electronic equipment.

She joined the firm as a secretary after three years at Vassar College in her native Poughkeepsie, N.Y., because she thought working for an export firm would help fulfill her dream.

SHE WANTED TO TRAVEL, especially to the Far East and South Seas. But her business head turned out to be too good and she steadily advanced in the firm and to being office-bound.

Two of her models are included in a guild exhibit running for the next month at New York's Seamen's Bank of Savings.

"I got started because my husband was away a lot—establishing his own mail order novelties business," she said.

"I HAUNTED hobby shops with my nephew and pretty soon I was making for him plastic models of antique cars, boats, warships."

One day while poking around a hobby shop, she saw on display a model of the famed riverboat, the Robert E. Lee.

She asked to look at the blueprints and heard a snicker from someone in the place that "she could never build that."

"FIGHTING WORDS," said Mrs. Weith. "I bought the plans and two long hard years later I finished the Robert E. Lee."

She's made 12 wooden models now, working with tools actually very simple for all the work entailed—small, sharply pointed knives, jeweler's saw, sandpaper, glue and tweezers.

Her apartment workshop is one corner of what used to be the storage closet for crinolines women wore under their bustled skirts.

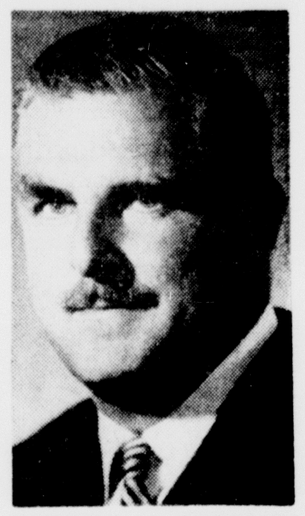

Her favorite ships, she said, are the clippers, speedy and sleek numbers American seamen started sailing in the 1940's.

"If you want to know how much sail is involved in a clipper, take a look at the Cutty Sark ad," she said.

"When I see a clipper, I just wish I had lived then to go to sea."

ABOUT THAT DREAM of traveling—it's still there. She and her husband plan when they retire to take a "leisurely trip strictly by ship around the world, stopping where we want to and as long as we want to." Then it'll be back to her hobby again.

Forum Sets Talk On World Conflict

MERRITT K. RUDDOCK

Merritt K. Ruddock, executive director of the World Affairs Council of Northern California, will present the program for the Marin Forum on Nov. 4, speaking on, "Changing Patterns in World Conflict."

A Marin resident, Ruddock is the former mayor of Belvedere, and has a background as news commentator, newspaperman and diplomat. As a member of the Office of Strategic Services during World War II, he was a part of its Central Intelligence branch, and afterward became a civilian member of the State Department group which helped organize the Central Intelligence Agency. Next he was sent to London as first secretary at the United States Embassy there, where he served for three years.

The World Affairs Council, which he directs, is a non-profit organization interested in broadening public understanding of international relations.

The program will be held at noon at Kublai Khan Restaurant in the Town and Country Shopping Center, Strawberry. Mrs. Louis G. Harding of Mill Valley is program chairman.

St. Hilary's Parishioners Plan Angel Island Picnic

Parishioners of St. Hilary's Church, Tiburon, are planning a family picnic on Angel Island, Sunday. They will leave the Tiburon ferry dock at 10 a.m. for the all-day affair.

Arrangements are being handled by the Holy Name Society, with Leighton Hatch, chairman, Pierce Powers, games, Ed Middendorf, publicity, and Messrs. Al Agajan, John Douherty, Frank Ryan and Ray Jasek, reception committee. Mrs. Leighton Hatch, president of St. Hilary's Parent - Teacher Group, has asked members of that organization to assist.

Williams-Ackerman Engagement

The engagement of Christine Patricia Ackerman and Stanley Leroy Williams was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace F. Ackerman, Saturday at a family gathering at their home in San Anselmo.

Christine was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and San Francisco State College, and is working for her elementary education credential there.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Marion H. Williams of Concord and Thomas Earle Williams of Berkeley. He was graduated from Berkeley High School and will be graduated in December from the University of California.

The couple plan a July wedding.

California Designers For 'Little Lady' Of The Family

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Men, if you wife's the type who wants to wear the pants in the family, beware. She has help.

California's sportswear designers are on her side.

For next spring and summer, they've come up with pants for cooking breakfast, playing golf, going shopping, dining, dancing and anything else she cares to do.

Pants, and especially the pants suits introduced by New York designer Norman Norell several seasons ago, were the most popular item displayed to the nation's fashion editors at the California Fashion Creators' preview at the Century Plaza Hotel.

There even were pyramid pants.

TO PUBLISH ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING STORIES IN THE I-J

Fall is a popular time for wedding and betrothal announcements. Forms for engagement and wedding story information to be printed by the Independent-Journal are available from the I-J offices in San Rafael, Novato, Mill Valley, Corte Madera and Tiburon.

Wedding forms must be returned to the I-J promptly and information will be printed immediately after the wedding takes place.

The Independent-Journal does not print wedding stories or photographs more than 30 days after the wedding takes place.

Engagement forms may be accompanied by a professional black and white photograph, which may be obtained in the I-J office after it is printed.

VAN DELLEN

C. M. M. writes: "I was surprised to read your article about a New Zealand surgeon who washes out the bronchi with a saline solution using the bronchoscope. Dr. C. R. Bruner of Columbia, Mo., treated a patient in this manner many years ago; I believe it was in 1935.

I AM A LAWYER, not a doctor, but Dr. Bruner was a close friend of mine. He graduated from Northwestern University medical school about 1925 and later went to Philadelphia to learn from Dr. Chevalier Jackson how to use a bronchoscope. He invited me to observe him treat a patient with the technique. The patient told me that when he came to Dr. Bruner, his condition was so bad the odor from his bronchitis was offensive to everyone. His improvement was remarkable."

This lawyer is correct in that washing out the bronchi (broncholavage) is not a new procedure. It is an oldie that is enjoying a second run of popularity. This is true of many of our ideas and devices. On the other hand, if the physician failed to describe the technic in medical journals, it may go unnoticed, and he will never get credit for being a pioneer in this field.

A READER WRITES: "My 10-year-old son has quite a lot of freckles. I have heard that carrot or lemon juice will take them away. Are either of these juices safe to use on the face?"

They are safe but I doubt if these juices will make the spots fade. There are many preparations to remove freckles, most of which contain mercury and produce mild peeling. Depigmenting creams, such as Benoquin, help some but at the expense of developing a contact dermatitis. Bleaches occasionally help severe freckling.

FRECKLES ARE most common in childhood and usually appear in the summer time as a result of being stimulated by sunlight. They often fade in the winter. Oddly enough, protective sunscreening preparations have little influence on freckling.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer question on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Independent-Journal.)

MEMORY PILL

G. A. R. writes: I am a woman of 50. Lately I have noticed that I am getting forgetful. Is there a pill I could take to keep me sharp and alert?

REPLY

Several months ago a pill that improved the memory of laboratory animals and older people was announced. This drug is not on the market and time will tell whether it is safe and effective. Disturbances of the memory are common at this age and nothing need be done if it is not pronounced. On the other hand, an examination is suggested if it is marked or develops suddenly.

POUNDING HEART

V. L. writes: After any kind of exertion my heart pounds rapidly and I have difficulty breathing. Does this mean heart disease?

REPLY

These symptoms may be caused by heart disease or by nervousness. The only way to determine the origin is to have a complete examination including an electrocardiogram and chest X-ray.

DIET IN LIVER DIEASE

L. I. writes: Does a patient with hepatitis need any special diet?

REPLY

EMOTIONAL REACTION

R. A. writes: What brings on a cold sweat?

REPLY

Emotions rather than heat or cold.

Three Houses Burglarized In One Area

Burglars made off with more than $1,000 worth of electronic equipment and furniture from three houses on Buckalew Street, Marin City, Friday night, Marin County sheriff's deputies reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Sperry M. Warner of 62 Buckalew apparently spurpised the burglars in their home when they arrived at 10:45 p.m., deputies said.

The Warners found their front door pried, heard a noise, and saw two men running off down the hill carrying heavy objects. A television set, record player and speaker were missing from their home.

Deputies found the doors of two neighboring homes pried in the same fashion, but did not enter themselves, since the owners were not at home.

Grover Sales Jr. of 66 Buckalew Street called the next day to report that someone ransacked his home and took hi fi equipment and two coffee tables worth $1,386. Deputies had no report yet on the third home broken into.

College Lecture Series To Open On Asian Note

Raphael Green, an authority on Asian affairs, will kick off a series of illustrated lectures spotlighting the power struggle between Russia and China at the College of Marin.

Sponsored by the college's Concert - Lecture Series the talks will be held Nov. 1, 8 and 15 in Olney Hall.

Green's lecture, entitled: "Red Outposts in Asia; Russia verses China" will be illustrated with documentary color film on Outer Mongolia.

On Nov. 8, the speaker sill be reporter Kenneth S. Armstrong will talk on "South Viet Nam: Endless Circle?" and the following week, Lisa Hobbs, first staff reporter of a United States newspaper to enter Communist China in 10 years, will give a "Red China Report." All lectures are illustrated with film or color slides.

Plumbers To Meet

A meeting of the Plumbing, Heating and Cooling Contractors of Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino Counties Inc., will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. in the Lodge of Novato.

POLITICAL BRIEFS

Reagan Girl Team Will Appear Friday

Ten girls from Dominican College will perform as Reagan Girls Friday night when Republican gubernatorial candidate Ronald Reagan appears at a public reception at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael.

The reception, starting at 7 p.m., will include no-host cocktails, entertainment featuring the Red Garter Band and a brief speech by the candidate. Mrs. Davette Milmoe is chairman of the reception.

Paul R. Haerle, Marin chairman for Reagan, announced that Rep. Don H. Clausen, State Sen. John F. McCarthy, and Assemblyman William T. Bagley will also attend.

Mrs. Herbert Swasey of Larkspur is director of the Reagan Girls, while Karen Kerfoot of San Rafael is junior director.

McCARTHY DRIVE

State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, will speak at noon tomorrow before the Novato Kiwanis Club at the Lodge.

Senator McCarthy's schedule for the rest of the week includes:

Wednesday, 5 p.m., campaign rally at his headquarters, 1299 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

TAX REFORM

Sweeping reforms in real property taxes are incorporated in a bill which Assemblyman Pearce Young, D-Napa and Solano, requested today from the legislative counsel in Sacramento.

Young proposes to reduce homeowners' tax by 50 per cent of that portion which finances public education.

"The total burden of financing public education should be shifted from the real property taxpayer to the wider tax sources of the state," said Young. "My bill would move us half way in that direction."

STORER TALK

Thomas T. Storer, Democratic candidate for Congress, declared yesterday he would like to add 700 acres to the Point Reyes National Seashore, at the south end of Tomales Bay, for recreational purposes, particularly for fishing. He said he would work for such an addition if elected to Congress.

Policy Committee

The policy development committee of the Mill Valley School District will meet Nov. 1 at 8 p.m. at the district offices, 26 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

Barber Shop Concert Set On Dec. 3

The Marin Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing will present a concert at the Marin Country Day School in Sorte Madera, on Dec. 3.

The concert on the theme "A Barber Shop Revival," will feature the chapter chorus, the Plus Four quartet, a comedy group from Monterey, and the Bay Town Four, who ranked high in national competition, according to Maurice L. Carlson, past president of the chapter.

The concert originally had been scheduled for Nov. 26.

Novato Planners To View Four Requests Tonight

Novato Planning Commission will consider rezoning from agriculture to mobile home use for three acres at 1524 Hill Avenue when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

Paul Pickart is asking the rezoning and a permit for the mobile home park of 26 units, between Hill Junior High School and the Nave Shopping Center.

Scottsdale Co. seeks rezoning from planned residential to roadside business for six and one-quarter acres on the east side of Redwood Boulevard, North of Rowlands Boulevard.

Eugene McGillicuddy seeks rezoning from single family to multiple residential and retail commercial for five lots on the east side of Fifth Street, 150 feet north of Grant Avenue.

San Domenico School Schedules 'Medea'

Drama students at San Domenico Upper School will present "The Medea," the first in a series of experimental presentations in drama, dance and music, at the school's new outdoor theater in Sleepy Hollow Wednesday through Saturday. Curtain time will be 8 p.m.

San Domenico drama teacher Alberto Cereghino is directing the play. It features students from College of Marin, Marin Catholic High School, Three-R School and St. Anselm's School as well as San Domenico. Staging will be on the foundations of an old mansion on the San Domenico campus on Butterfield Road.

Cast members of the revised form of the Euripidean tragedy are: Linda Ferguson of Kentfield, Medea; Gregory Harning of San Rafael, Jason; Louis C. Soileau IV of San Anselmo, Creon; Mary Ellen Merryman of San Rafael, tutor; Timothy McManus of Fairfax, Aegius; Rita Knox of San Anselmo, slave; Sandra Levy, Cynthia Strauss and Mary Elizabeth Thomsen, all of San Rafael, as the women of Corinth; John Sandom of San Rafael, younger child; Mary Teresa Metcalf of Modesto, nurse; Steve Knox of San Anselmo, elder child.

Sleepy Hollow Pair Arrested For Beating

Two 16-year-old Sleepy Hollow boys were arrested early yesterday after Alexander I. Sharkov of 69 Raven Road, Sleepy Hollow, complained they hit him, leaving several cuts on his face.

Sharkov said they attacked him after the called them into the house to suggest that one of the boys was responsible for recent vandalism on his property. The boys said Sharkov struck first and they only hit him in self-defense, sheriff's deputies said.

Homestead Players Recruiting Actors

The Homestead Players will hold tryouts for a children's play "The Emperor's Nightingale" Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday at 4 p.m. in Brown's Hall, Mill Valley.

Six men and six women are needed for speaking and non-speaking roles in the play scheduled for production in early December.

Redwood Actors Poise For 'Milky Way'

Redwood High School will present "The Milky Way," by Lynn Root and Harry Clark, on Nov. 16, 18 and 19.

Alex Hermann and Daniel Kreps have been selected for lead roles in the play. Supporting cast members include Herb Dukes, Beth Penny, Julie Theriault, Bruce Gerhardt, Kurt Gjullin, Bob Little, Berit Engebretsen and Anthony Bricca.

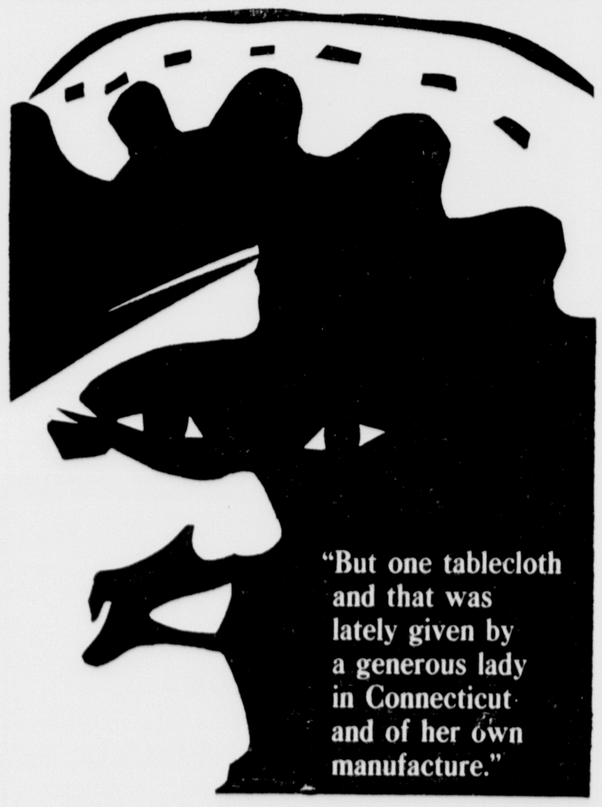

Snow White Film Scheduled Saturday

"Snow White and the Three Stooges" will be presented by the Terra Linda Recreation and Park District Saturday at 1 p.m. at the Terra Linda Community Center.

"Dopey," dancing clown, will be present at the movie.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, MONDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1966 17

Supervisors Will Review Pay System

Marin supervisors tomorrow will discuss means of debating salaries for county executives and consider what form a regional government in the Bay Area should take.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center.

County Administrator Alan Bruce has suggested that the board consider changes in the executive salary committee. This has been two members of the board deliberating in private session on raises for county executives. The committee recommends to the board of supervisors which adopts the salary, or in the case of elected officials, makes a recommendation to the legislature.

BROWN ACT

An Independent-Journal editorial on Oct. 15 questioned the practice, particularly in relation to the Ralph M. Brown act which bans closed sessions of public bodies or their committees, and in relation to a legislative counsel's recent ruling which said closed sessions cannot be held on salaries.

Bruce has defended the practice, saying it involves evaluation of an employee and has been "one of Marin County's successful adaptations of private enterprise methods.

"In view of the question of the size of the committee and the executive session question which has been raised from the 'know nothing' quarter, it is suggested that the board consider the three alternatives outlined below, or variations thereon, and determine the course to be pursued at this time.

NEW NAME

"If a committee is continued, its name should be changed to 'executive evaluation committee', to reflect accurately its primary function," Bruce said.

The alternatives are keeping the present two-man committee, increasing it to a committee of the full board with meetings in private, or a full board with meetings in public. Disadvantages of the latter, Bruce said, are "inhibiting of free discussion on both sides, consequent reduced likelihood of constructive action, press distortion."

Supervisors tomorrow are also to discuss in more detail objections to the regional government proposal made by the goals and objectives committee of the Assn. of Bay Area Governments. That committee's recommendation said the nine-county region should be governed by an appointed assembly.

STRONG OBJECTIONS

Marin supervisors objected strongly to this. Tomorrow they will consider recommending either a nine-member executive committee elected by popular vote to represent nine districts of near equal population, a nine-member executive committee with member one from each county elected by popular vote in the county, or 18 or 24-member executive committees providing additional special representation for cities and counties.

Napa Orchid Grower Takes Mel Dittler Trophy At Show

The Tiburon Shark Lions Club granted a second trophy to an odonto glossum entered by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Derreau of San Francisco, non-members of the three participating orchid societies, Marin, Santa Rosa and Napa.

Highest award to a Marin County resident was for the best cattleya in show, to Mr. and Mrs. Enrico Intoini of San Rafael.

A dusky rose cattleya was named for the Shark Lions Club luncheon guest of honor Saturday, Rosette Savorganan, wife of Dr. S. Savorgnan, dean of San Francisco's consular corps.

The Rod McClelland Co. received a special commendation from the digest for a display which filled the entire stage of the Corinthian Yacht Club ballroom.

Entrants came from as far away as Coos Bay, Ore., to the two-day show. Co-sponsors of the show were the three orchid clubs, with Mrs. Paul O. Flaherty as chairman, and the Belvedere-Tiburon Shark Lions Club with William Howell as chairman. Proceeds went to Shark Lions' general project fund.

Deadline For Taxes

Permit For Foster

A request for a permit to operate a foster home for up to six children at 259 Marlin Avenue will be heard tonight by Mill Valley Planning Commission at its 8 o'clock meeting in the city manager's office at city hall.

The home would be operated by the Children's Garden of San Francisco. Owned by Sigmund Eisner, the house is in a single-family residential district.

Fairfax Mum Grower Wins In First Show

Charles Norman Stroyd of 40 Inyo Avenue, Fairfax, a first-time entrant, won top honors in the Chrysanthemum Society of Marin's 17th annual show Saturday and yesterday at Crocker-Citizens National Bank, San Rafael.

Stroyd won the challenge trophy and awards for the best decorative and best pompon, and was runner-up in the best cut flower in the show. Another award winner in the family was Mrs. Stroyd, who had the best novice entry.

The sweepstakes trophy was won by Mrs. B. H. Keener of San Anselmo, who also was winner for best new introduction and best companion theme flower.

Ivan Johnson of Novato was a double winner, placing first in best potted plant and most outstanding horticultural entry.

Another double winner was Homer Crowell of San Anselmo, first in best exhibition and best theme flower. The theme of the show was "Jewels of Autumn."

George Hern of Walnut Creek won in the best spider and best cut flower divisions.

Planners Postpone Marincello Debate

Debate on Marincello was again postponed by the Marin County Planning Commission today, and citizens who had taken time off from their jobs to be heard went away angry.

"Why do Frouge Corp. representatives always know of the postponements in advance while we of the interested public do not know about the postponement until we appear at the hearings?" asked John Peter Erickson, persident of the Wolfback Ridge Assn. He posed the question in a written statement to commission chairman Margaret Azevedo. Also signing was Maggi Gnau of the Golden Gate Headlands Assn.

Continued today was consideration of covenants to assure development of the community as proposed in the master plan. In his written report to the commission, prepared Thursday, planning director Paul C. Zucker said that county counsel Douglas J. Maloney has not yet completed drafting the covenants.

Warren Glass, a Wolfback Ridge resident, said it was the fifth time he recalled when the matter had been continued. The hearing was supposed to be held last March.

What is the real reason for this delay?" Erickson asked in his written presentation.

Underground Utilities On Agenda

Tiburon City Council will hear a report tonght by City Engineer Ray Foreaker and City Atty. Robert I. Conn on undergrounding of utility lines.

The report is to include suggestions for equalizing rates where utilities already have been put underground. The council meets at 8 o'clock in city hall.

If councilmen adopt the revised version of an ordinance establishing the board of design review, that body will at last become official on Nov. 21. The board has been operating as a sub-committee of the planning commission.

Also up for final consideration is rezoning of five lots in the Golden View Heights subdivision.

The council will discuss a resolution endorsing Proposition 1 on the Nov. 8 election ballot, an amendment to the state constitution which would authorize public agencies to invest retirement funds in common stocks.

Recreation Funding On Board's Agenda

San Rafael Board of Education will continue discussion on funds to be allocated for the city recreation program at a meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the district offices.

A Title II grant of $3,666 for library materials has been recommended for approval by board members. Also to be taken up is a recommendation that district landscape architects, Katy and Paul Steinmetz, be authorized to prepare a $300 master landscaping plan for the Santa Venetia Middle School. Funds for the project would be transferred from undistributed reserves.

Scooter Tips Over; Rider Injures Head

She was reported in fair condition today in the intensive care unit of Berkeley's Herrick Memorial Hospital.

According to Berkeley police, Douglas MacLachlan attempted to pass a car on Oxford Street, lost control, and the scooter tipped over, throwing him and his wife, who was riding passenger, to the pavement.

MacLachlan who is studying for his Ph. D. at University of California, was treated for minor injuries at Herrick Hospital.

Boy, 5, Injured As Bike, Car Hit

James Murrin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Murrin of 99 Sleepy Hollow Drive, headed into the street near his home and hit the left side of a car driven by Robert John Reynolds, 16, of 200 Van Winkle Drive, Sleepy Hollow, the California Highway Patrol reported. He was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Bench Warrant Arrest Sought

Bench warrant for arrest of William Otho Owens, 47, charged with petty theft with a prior conviction, was issued in Marin Superior Court by Judge Joseph G. Wilson today following Owen's failure to appear for arraignment.

The judge also forfeited $3,850 bail and set new bail at $11,000.

Owens, convicted of forgery in 1959 in San Mateo, allegedly fleeced three dry cleaning establishments in Marin County by leaving clothes for cleaning, then borrowing money under the pretext that he needed cash for only a brief time.

Radio System Developer At Prison Retires

A man who helped make possible one of the few privileges San Quentin inmates have in their cells has retired after 13 years of prison service.

He is Charles M. Williams who, as electric shop foreman, overhauled the prison's radio lines in each housing unit, giving each prisoner the opportunity of hearing radio programs.

He was a member of the trade adivsory committee and other committees involved in helping inmates gain employment outside on their release. His retirement took effect Sept. 30.

Car Stolen; Auto Looting Also Probed

A stolen car and two burglaries from cars have been reported to the Marin County sheriff's office.

Frank A. Roda of the Houseboat Bianca, Gate Five, Waldo Point, reported his car was stolen from a parking space near his home sometime between 9:30 a.m. Friday and 7 a.m. Saturday.

Robert F. Kelley of 1045 Las Ovejas Avenue, Terra Linda, reported Friday that a typewriter valued at $500-$600 and a brief case valued at $20 were taken from the trunk of his car while it was parked at the Novato Lodge Motel parking lot between 7 p.m. Thursday and 2 a.m. Friday.

Mrs. Gilbert G. Moran, 825 Palmera Way, Santa Venetia, reported more than $280 worth of clothing, bedding, and tools were taken from her car while it was parked in the Civic Center parking lot between 7 a.m. and 11:30 p.m. Thursday.

Youths Suffer Minor Injuries In Wreck

Two youths suffered minor injuries when their car swerved off Wolfe Grade Road, north of Kentdale Lane, at 11:45 p.m. Saturday and struck a utility pole, according to the California Highway Patrol.

The driver, Scott E. Graham, 17, of 18 Venus Court, Tiburon, told officers he was northbound rounding a curve when his hand slipped on the steering wheel. Graham was cut on right elbow and mouth, and his passenger, Laura Elema, 16, of Oakland, suffered a cut right knee and multiple bruises. Both were treated at Marin General Hospital.

Protect What You Have Before Seeking More

First of all, such vandalism and subsequent closing of the center deprives the community of the use of badly needed recreation facilities.

But more important such vandalism, even though perpetrated by a small segment of the population, reacts to the detriment of the entire community.

Each new disturbance, statewide and nationwide, lends more credence to the oft-repeated charge that those who clamor for jobs and more recreation opportunities are unwilling to help themselves. Those who are earnestly seeking work and self improvement thereby suffer, along with the reckless few.

We all recognize that jobs must be provided for the jobless, and more recreational facilities are needed. Marin is working toward those goals. But if existing facilities, however inadequate they may be at present, are torn up and dissipated even before additional facilities can be provided, then the public is justified in asking: If they can't even care for the little they have, then what's the use of providing more?

Various "backlashes" are reported to be spreading throughout the country. Destructive, irresponsible acts of vandalism can create a backlash, not black or white, but a taxpaying citizens' backlash against irresponsibility.

The fact that facilities or the salaries offered are meager does not justify violent reaction or ridicule.

There are those who toil on the farms or factories from dawn to sunset, with no recreation hall waiting for them in the evening.

There are those who would relish the opportunity to have a recreation hall of their own. And those who would not find it demeaning to consider a job at $1.35 an hour if that were the only job available immediately.

If the aim of the shouting and violence is to gain public attention, then the aim has been realized. The public is well aware of the need to help the unfortunates get on their feet and help themselves.

Many individuals and organizations, both public and private, are working for the civil rights and physical needs of the less fortunate. Their job is made difficult enough by continued sniping from those who charge mollycoddling.

Those who seek help should not make the difficult task impossible by pulling the rug from under those who are genuinely attempting to help. Offer constructive suggestions, yes, but not a destructive slap in the face.

Don't push to the point where we are forced to throw up our hands and give up the battle as a lost cause. Continued violence and destructive tactics can drive us to that point.

Sapsucker Borings

Have you noticed rings of small holes drilled in the living bark of an acacia or apple tree? If so, chances are they were made by a sapsucker.

These birds are not very prevalent in Marin. They spend the summer breeding season in the high Sierras and venture out of the mountains only with the onset of winter's cold. Most go south, but some come west.

Poetry In Falling Leaves

If poetry is symbolism, what is more poetic than falling leaves? They cogently symbolize autumn. They symbolize Nature's law that living things must die. But, in so doing, they also symbolize regeneration by becoming one with the soil and thus providing new vigor for other plants.

Falling leaves also symbolize Nature's mystique—the knowable and the unknowable, the fact that the more we know about Nature, the more we discover we don't know.

Lawmakers Still Spending Cash On Antiquated Capitol Edifice

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — If anyone suggested pulling down the old State Capitol in favor of a new and modern building, the howls of the sentimentalists, the historians, and others of diverse interest probably would be heard from Oregon to the Mexican border.

THE HALLOWED halls may have some appeal to people who do not have to work in the tumbled mess, but many of those who do wish someone would start with the phony gold ball atop the dome and wind up with the last brick in the 12-foot-thick foundation.

carting the entire litter of imitation Corinthian pillars, pseudo marble columns and granite blocks off to the junk heap.

It's a by-word around Sacramento that enough money has been spent on remodeling the Capitol to build at least a couple of new 20-story structures, which might at least have some running hot water and modern lavatories.

The Legislature does nothing but appropriate more of the taxpayer's money in vain attempts to make the place habitable.

LITTLE MORE than two years ago, the fourth floor of the Capitol underwent a remodeling job. New plaster walls were installed, and an air-conditioning system built through the dusty attic.

Shortly afterward, the walls started cracking, not because of a bum job by the contractor, but because somebody forgot to fix the roof for leaks.

THEN THE STATE decided the air conditioning was no good, so a major job from top to bottom is now under way. The state hopes it will be able to keep the temperature somewhere near the livable degree instead of at the freezing point after the job is completed Dec. 31. All summer it's been cold enough to keep the dome frosted instead of gilded.

However, it's probably too much to ask a Legislature to give the taxpayers a break by calling a halt to remodeling for a structure which sags at the floors and misses being level by some inches. The Legislature has given the same sentimental attention to the ancient governor's mansion, which has to have a rope ladder for escape in case of fire.

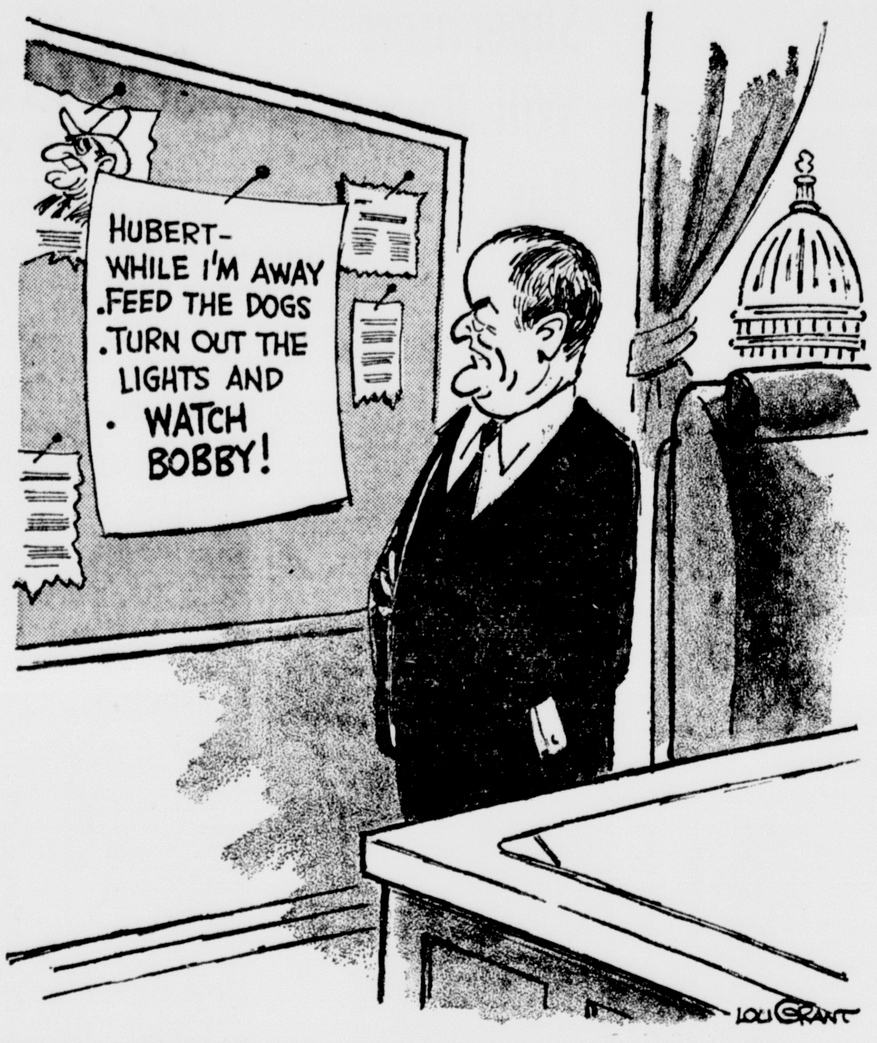

Those lawmakers don't have to work in the old Capitol, nor live in the old mansion.

SACRAMENTO has done remarkably well in clearing out some of its slums, but it still has the nearly century-old Capitol and governor's mansion, which is as aged. But then, Sacramento is backward in many ways, including freeway construction.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Mail Carrier Speaks Up

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I wonder how many of you letter writers to your supervisors, senators, and post office department stopped to analyze the situation when the post office directed curbside delivery on any new development after 1963. This letter isn't being directed to those few in minority with legitimate reasons such as: illness or poor health, aged persons, or those few true believers in the beautification program: rather this letter is being directed toward those with their own selfish motives and narrow-mindness had this bill rescinded.

You were given an opportunity to be patriotic and participate in an economical move by the government to cut back on expenses. I feel safe to say that the carrier adapting to this system could have a potential of 25 per cent more deliveries per day at a saving to you as tax payer. In addition, dog bites would have been virtually eliminated or drastically reduced by more than 50 per cent, because of the limited trespassing on the patron's property.

No doubt it was your contention that the carrier wouldn't be getting enough exercise if we adopted this system. We appreciate your concern especially since this is the second time we have been forewarned. The first occurrence arose during the 50-mile hike craze initiated by the late JFK when a patron gave a carrier a lecture on the poor physical condition of the average American. When this carrier returned to the patron's mailbox after a week-end off, there was a letter belonging to the patron next door hanging from his mailbox. This paragon of physical activity couldn't carry a one ounce letter the 50 feet to his neighbor's mailbox! ! ! !

Did you ever consider the plight of the letter carrier getting soaked during the winter rains because he has to jump out of his scooter to bring the mail to the door while you are safe and dry inside, propped up reading magazines and chomping on the latest Whitman Sampler. In all probability, you thought somebody has to get wet so why not that poor slob? In addition, the fact that dog bites could be drastically reduced didn't occur to you because Fido would be missing his opportunity for the "Meat of the Week."

The people, who are to be commended, are those who complied with the post office and placed their mailboxes at the curbside at a greater expense. Now, because of the post office's poor stand in continuing to enforce curbside delivery these fine people will, in all probability, have to purchase another mailbox at their expense for the convenience of door-step delivery to which they are more than entitled.

To those who achieve the hollow victory of door-step delivery are paying for their just reward, due to the fact there are no funds available for the proper delivery of the mass volume of second and third-class mail jammed in the post office all over the nation, and the money saved by curbside delivery might have eliminated that situation entirely.

Population Growth Creates Problems

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Some of us think that the abolition of war is the most important first step toward a heaven on earth; and it is. But war is part of a bigger issue which is conservation. Conservation implies ecology. Ecology is the study of living things; their relationship to each other and to their environment.

The most highly respected intellects of 20th Century man are telling us that without peace anything can happen and it will. We cannot afford to take the chance.

They are trying to tells us about the unfathomable problems created by population expansion and movement. We are witnessing world-wide air pollution. (The moon never comes up silver in New Mexico anymore.) We are seeing the mass uglification of countryside, river system pollution, bay pollution, and ocean (?) pollution, the waste of precious minerals (concentrated physically and chemically from great volumes of worthless rock over millions and billions of years) and sickening extinction of wildlife by literally crowding it out and killing the stragglers.

Those of you who know me thought I was going to write about Bolinas Lagoon or Highway 17 or Marincello or redwoods . . . or national parks or public transportation . . .

Brace Yourself On Land Taxes

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Now that this year's property tax bills have been received we must decide what to do with them. It is, of course, too late to protest either the assessed values or amount of tax. There are then really only three alternatives: (1) pay the bill as presented; (2) pay the bill under protest; or (3) refuse to pay it.

Paying under protest is a rather involved process and generally would require subsequent court action. It would be necessary to show some error either in the manner in which the assessment was made or in the tax rate. If anyone is disturbed over the way property taxes are soaring (my own are up 32 per cent from last year and 50 per cent in three years — and I'm disturbed!) he may consider refusing to pay the taxes, with the thought and hope that if enough of us follow this procedure we may somehow get the message across to the board of supervisors, school trustees, and others in a position to control public funds—even the state legislature — that the property tax burden has now become prohibitive.

Most taxpayers are unaware that the county cannot deprive them of their property for six years, because of delinquent taxes. In the interim, they will be charged an average of 7 per cent per year on the amount of delinquent taxes, but in the meantime, this money can be invested in bank savings certificates at 5 per cent compound interest or in bonds at around 6 per cent, so that the net cost to the individual is only about 1 per cent per year or $10 for every $1,000 not paid.

And when the assessment ratio goes to 25 per cent from the present 23 per cent in accordance with new state legislation, taxes are going to take another 9 per cent jump automatically, because county department heads, school boards, etc., aren't going to let a windfall opportunity like this get away from them. So brace yourselves!

FARMER ROSS had one of the finest apple orchards in the state, and come fall, regular as clockwork, the kids from the neighborhood would sneak in to purloin apples. Regularly, too, Farmer Ross would come charging angrily out of his house, waving a shotgun, and threatening the fleeing youths with everything he could think of.

After watching one of these vain pursuits, a neighbor said to Farmer Ross, "Danged if I can understand you, Bill. You're normally a calm and generous man — and you've got 10 times as many apples ripening in the orchard as you can possibly use. Why don't you just let the kids have some?"

"Heck," laughed Farmer Ross. "I WANT them to have the apples. But I was a boy once myself, and if I didn't holler and chase them — they'd never come back!"

"WHAT DO you mean, we never had any excitement up at Wappinger's Falls?" protested a former native of that bustling center. "I can still remember how every Saturday night we'd get dolled up in our best duds and rush down to the hotel to see who'd rented the room."

Negro Leaders Doing Well In Repudiations Of 'Black Power'

WASHINGTON — None too soon, important steps are at last being taken to rescue the cause of racial justice from the two things which could destroy it: violence and black power racism.

Until the principal civil rights leaders conclusively disassociated themselves from the propaganda of black power and any resort to force or approval of force, the cause of equal rights and equal opportunity for Negroes was in jeopardy, grievous jeopardy.

WHAT IS MOST welcome is that the initiative is coming from the most responsible and respected Negro leaders in the nation—Roy Wilkins, Whitney M. Young Jr., A. Philip Randolph and others.

With the exception of the two extremists, Stokely Carmichael of SNCC and Floyd McKissick of CORE, they have united the Negro leadership behind a declaration on "crisis and commitment" which calls for total reliance on peaceful democratic processes to achieve their goals.

Their commitments are not new, but they come with an air-clearing freshness at a moment when the dangerous fog of "black power" and disorder was beginning to envelop the whole civil rights movement, turning many people against it. They are these:

1—We are committed to the attainment of racial justice by the democratic process.

2—We repudiate any strategies of violence, reprisal or vigilantism, and we condemn both the rioting and the demogoguery that feed it.

3—Just as we are committed to the goal of integration into every aspect of the national life, we are equally committed to the common responsibility of all Americans, both white and black, for bringing integration to pass.

The danger that racial disorder would halt the cause of racial justice was growing. Only a few weeks ago President Johnson cited this danger in remarks he made to a group of Methodist Episcopal bishops meeting with him at the White House. He did not overstate it when he said:

"WHAT IF the cry for freedom becomes the sound of a brick cracking through a store window, turning over an automobile in the street, or throwing of rocks, or the sound of the mob, or the sound of violence, or the yells of frustration, and the bitter inflection is from a body that hates?

"If that sound should drown out the voices of reason, frustration will replace progress and all of our best work will be undone."

Bear in mind that earlier this year moderate Democrats won nominations in Florida and Virginia. But several weeks later the Democrats chose extreme segregationists as candidates for governor in Arkansas, Louisiana, Maryland and Georgia. The difference, in the view of Rep. Charles L. Weltner of Atlanta, who resigned his nomination for a third term in Congress rather than support Lester Maddox for governor, "is quite plainly the riots."

I am not suggesting that the Negro leadership can magically wave all violence from the nation. What is crucial is that the American people as a whole, who have decisively supported racial justice for more than a decade, know that the civil rights leadership overwhelmingly rejects and condemns resort to violence.

This is exactly that is happening. It may not have come soon enough to counter some voter backlash on Nov. 8.

BUT IT WILL do its work in the coming months and enable government at all levels to get on with the vital twofold agenda of maintaining law and order and removing the causes which have produced the riots.

'Ultimate Weapon' Is Weather Control

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — From the Communist half of the world, we are beginning to hear strange sounds, remarkably like the rumble of gun carriages moving into place before a great battle or an epic-making event.

The first omen of trouble is an intelligence report from U.S. official in Moscow that Soviet scientists may be nearing human control of weather and thus development of the "ultimate weapon."

THE SECOND warning of an ominous and/or monumental space event is from a Polish scientist attending the 17th annual International Astronautical Congress in Madrid.

In a private meeting with U.S. intelligence authorities, this Polish scientist warned that the Russians were planning a "weather changing" experiment designed to "electrify the world" and affect the weather in many areas of the globe. The Polish scientist said there was talk among Russian technicians that it would coinside with either the Nov. 12 eclipse of the sun or during the Leonid shower of meteorites, which is expected to be visible on Nov. 16.

IN THIS STARTLING report to U.S. authorities, the Polish scientist revealed that the Soviets were dealing with forces "almost beyond imagination," including the detonation of a nuclear warhead thousands of miles in outer space. Many of the Russian scientists involved, he said, were concerned that their tinkering might touch off a catastrophic reaction.

The "Madrid report" arrived in Washington early on Tuesday, Oct. 11 —or nearly a week before the President departed on his Asian trip.

On Oct. 14 — Dr. Walter Orr Roberts, the director of the National Center for Atmospheric Research, forecast that man would be able to achieve major control over the weather in this century. Dr. Roberts reported that the key to controlling weather was the construction of a giant computer — large enough to duplicate the mechanisms of weather.

While he presented no information on Soviet advances in building such a computer, Dr. Roberts reported that the U.S. did not have one and probably wouldn't until the mid-'70s.

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D.Conn., who has been warning his colleagues that weather control can be used as a massive weapon of war, is setting the stage to bring this new danger into the open after Nov. 8. The staff of his government operations subcommittee is now gathering information on the military implications of both U.S. and Soviet weather modification programs.

IF THE RUMBLINGS coming out of Moscow are not entirely delusive, the next few weeks should give U.S. authorities the evidence needed to determine how far the Russians have advanced toward obtaining that "ultimate weapon."

Let's Play A Game Of Aphorisms But Only After First Waking Up

OLEANDER O. WINK likes to play aphorisms, and the man is driving me to the wall. The other night, for instance, the phone rang sometime after midnight.

"Hello," I said sleepily.

"Government, like a potluck supper, is a collection of hungers, satisfied only by chance effort and a woeful waste of lettuce."

"Oh, it's you, Dr. Wink," I sighed. "Do you know what the time is?"

"Time is the slave of history and the master of destiny," he declared.

"OH, KNOCK IT OFF," I growled. "I don't want to play aphorisms with you, not in the middle of the night."

"He who picks his friends by time or season will die alone and with good reason."

I yawned.

"What's the matter, son? didn't you like that one about government?

"You know my views on maxing mixims with puns. I mean mixing maxims."

He giggled. "A pun can parole the stiffest sentence."

"Even capital punishment?" I asked.

"Hey, you're waking up."

"I FEEL SICK."

"Try this then," he said brightly. "Brilliance is understanding reality and genius is being impatient with it. But putting impatience before understanding is the practice of fools."

"Lack of originality is the first mark of a lazy mind," I said.

"But that was original," he squeaked.

"Careful," I warned, "you're talking normally."

"Sorry," he said, "I meant, he who questions freshness of another's words, usually wishes he had been first to speak them."

"There you go again," I said. "You know and I know that was just a poor paraphrase of Shakespeare."

"Shakespeare, indeed!" he said. "False opinions shade the truth and put me memory to sleep."

"DON'T SAY SLEEP to me!"

"Sleep is the winter of the mind, and we should welcome its passing," he said.

"Bad aphorisms die with their creators and neither soon enough."

"An aphorism, like an after dinner burp, is judged by the company. With some it is an embarrassment, with others it is a compliment, but always it stops the conversation."

"I wish you'd give me one to stop this conversation," I said. "I want to sleep."

"Sorry," he said. "It's too long since supper."

"I MEANT AN APHORISM, Dr. Wink."

He chuckled with delight. By now it was obvious that the good doctor had been drinking.

"He who drinks alone must sober up in solitude," I said.

"Accusations ill-founded are soon rebounded," he snapped. "What makes you think I'm alone?"

"HE WHO SPEAKS against the wind of truth must raise his voice."

"You, sir, are a clod," he snarled. "I tolerate you only because there are so many of you." With that he hung up.

I lay in bed wide-eyed until dawn. I tell you, he's driving me to the wall.

British Journalist Asks: Why Didn't GOP Fly To Manila?

WASHINGTON — It's very hard for an American to explain domestic politics to a friend from overseas as I found out the other day when I tried to describe to a British journalist what was happening during the present political campaign.

"I'm rather thick about it all," he said. "Could you explain to me why President Johnson left the country during the height of the campaign?"

"The feeling here is President Johnson can get more votes for the Democrats by going to Southeast Asia than if he stays in the United States and campaigns for them."

"I SEE," he said, obviously not seeing it at all. "Then why don't the Republicans go to Southeast Asia if that's where the votes are?"

"The votes aren't in Southeast Asia. The votes are here, but President Johnson feels many people in this country will be so impressed by him going abroad at this time that they'll vote Democratic. The Republicans would have liked to have gone with the President, but he didn't invite them."

"Bad luck, that," my British colleague said. "Are there any interesting contests going on that I should know about?"

"Well we have a wonderful governor's race in Georgia. The Democratic nominee is named Lester Maddox and he used to own a fried chicken restaurant and sell ax handles as souvenirs on the side."

"NOW YOU'RE pulling my leg," he said angrily.

"I'm not. Maddox sold chicken and ax handles. But then the civil rights law was enacted and he got very mad, because he was ordered to sell chicken and ax handles to Negroes.

"So he chased the Negroes through his parking lot with a pistol and when he was arested for that he decided the only thing to do was to close down his restaurant and run for governor of Georgia."

"Ha, ha, ha," my British friend said. "What an amusing thing. It must have given everyone in Georgia a good laugh."

"I wish I were. So do a lot of people in Georgia."

"What's happening in Alabama?"

"That's also a very interesting race. Mrs. George Wallace is running for governor of that state."

"Oh, is she interested in politics?"

"NO, BUT her husband, the present governor, couldn't succeed himself, so he ran his wife instead. His wife will be the governor, but he'll continue to run the state."

"And the people of Alabama won't mind?"

"Won't mind? They're all for it. You see, George Wallace wants to run for President of the United States in 1968, so if his wife is governor of Alabama it will make him look good. Do you understand?"

"Quite," he said with a pained expression on his face. "Tell me something. What is Bobby Kennedy running for?"

"He says he's not running for anything."

"BECAUSE HE insists he is not running for anything. But the more he insists he isn't running, the more the papers and magazines run his pictures."

"I better not. My editors think I drink too much when I'm over here anyway."

Anti-Secrecy Law To Be Discussed

Sausalito School District trustees will discuss the Ralph M. Brown Act, which prohibits secret meetings of public groups, at 8 p.m. in the district offices, Nevada and Wateree streets.

A letter from Marincello, on the proposed school sites to be located in the development, will be received by trustees.

Dinkelspiel To Head Campaign

Lloyd W. Dinkelspiel Jr., an attorney who maintains homes in San Francisco and Novato, has been named chairman of the 1967 campaign of the Jewish Welfare Federation of San Francisco, Marin County and the Peninsula.

A member of the federation's board of directors, he was a general vice chairman of the campaign this year and was vice-chairman of the 1965 business and professional campaign.

His father, the late Lloyd W. Dinkelspiel, was first president of the federation and also served as president of the San Francisco Jewish Community Center.

Redwood Election

Marinites To Speak At Humane Conclave

Two San Rafael men will participate in the state conference of the Humane Society of the United States at the International Hotel in Los Angeles Saturday and Sunday.

Fred Kerr, president of the board of directors, California branch, will be one of seven persons discussing the state's humane movement Sunday morning. Animal welfare laws and their enforcement will be the subject of a speech by Melvin Morse Saturday.

Council Will Study New ABAG Proposal

The Marin County Council of Mayors and Councilmen will discuss limited-function special metropolitan government, a proposal by the Assn. of Bay Area Governments, at its dinner meeting at the Alta Mira Hotel at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Frank Quinn, executive director of the San Francisco Human Rights Commission, will speak to the group on "What Happened in the City That Knows How."

Today is Monday, Oct. 24, the 297th day of the year with 68 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Jupiter.

American playwright, director and author Moss Hart was born on this day in 1904.

On this day in history:

In 1861, the first telegram was sent across the United States when California Supreme Court Justice Stephen Field sent a message to President Lincoln in Washington.

In 1945, Secretary of State James Byrnes announced the charter of the United Nations was in force after the Soviets ratified it.

In 1952, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, campaigning for the presidency, said if elected he would go to Korea to seek an end to the war.

A thought for the day—Poet Carl Sandberg wrote: "I am the people, the mob, the crowd, the mass. Do you know that all the great work of the world is done through me?-"

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Attorney Proves Why Bridge And Law Go Well Together

You must consider the danger of giving declarer an overtrick in tournament play, as may be seen in a hand played by Deputy Atty. Gen. Edward M. Belasco a few weeks ago in the bridge tournament held at the end of the California State Bar convention at Anaheim.

SLAM BIDDING

Belasco checked for aces and bid a slam after hearing a two-club response from his wife.

West made the normal lead of the king of hearts.

TOURNEY PLAY

East, an attorney who had played very little tournament bridge, overtook his partner's king of hearts with the ace. This was clearly the best rubber bridge play.

If South had no hearts there was little chance of defeating the contract.

If South had the missing three of hearts, East would win the first trick and return a low heart.

Then West would win a trump trick if he had as little as Q-x, 10-x-x or even 9-x-x-x.

COSTLY PLAY

East's play cost him several match points.

Belasco ruffed the first trick, drew trumps and led a diamond to dummy's ace. Then he led the jack of hearts through East.

East played low, but Belasco was in no doubt about the location of the queen of hearts. He discarded his low club and then easily took the rest of the tricks.

RUFF SITUATION

If East had covered the jack of hearts, Belasco would have ruffed in order to discard the club later on dummy's ten of hearts.

Most players bid the slam with the South cards, so that making just twelve tricks would have given Belasco only an average score. The overtrick earned him a top score.

Evidently lawyers interpret bridge hands in as many ways as they interpret laws — which may be why our courts and bridge clubs are such busy places.

DAILY QUESTION

The other three players pass, and it is up to you, holding:
♠ A K Q 9 8 7 4 2
♥ None
♦ K Q 5
♣ J 7

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid just one spade. Do not dream of making a shutout bid on so powerful a hand. Even though partner has passed he may have something like the ace of diamonds and the king of clubs, and you will have a reasonable play for a slam. You do not have enough high cards for an opening bid of two spades. Bid just one and await developments.

CITY OF SAN ANSELMO
ORDINANCE NO. 538

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING SECTION 9-7.09 (TITLE 9, CHAPTER 7,) OF THE SAN ANSELMO MUNICIPAL CODE BY AUTHORIZING "FOR SALE" SIGNS IN R DISTRICTS AND PROVIDING FOR VARIANCES UNDER CERTAIN CONDITIONS

The City Council of the City of San Anselmo do ordain as follows:

Section 1. Section 9-7.09 of the San Anselmo Municipal Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

"9-7.09. (a) No sign or billboard shall be so constructed as to obstruct, in any degree, any door, window or fire escape in or on any building. Except as otherwise provided in this Chapter all signs or billboards shall be attached to a building in which the applicant's business is being conducted.

(b) In districts zoned R one "for sale" sign not to exceed 24 inches by 24 inches in size may be posted on the premises being sold but such sign shall not be affixed to any tree. No such sign shall be composed of more than two different colors.

(c) Free standing signs, other than billboards, of a permanent nature may be permitted subject, however, to the approval of the City Council. The applicant for such permit shall submit to the City Engineer suitable drawings, plans or pictures of the proposed sign and showing the location of the sign on the property and any other information which the City Engineer may request. In no event shall any permit issue for a free standing sign unless the sign is located upon the premises being advertised. The applicant shall pay a fee of five dollars ($5.00) at the time of making application, no part of which shall be refunded. No permit shall issue unless the Chief of Police and the City Engineer shall each first approve the proposed sign. The City Council, in approving or rejecting a proposed sign shall be guided by the public interest, safety and welfare and its ultimate decision shall be final."

Section 2. The foregoing Ordinance shall, within fifteen (15) days of its final passage and adoption, be published, in full, once in the Independent Journal, a daily newspaper of general circulation, published and circulated in the County of Marin and City of San Anselmo, and hereby designated for that purpose, and said Ordinance shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after its final passage and adoption.

The foregoing Ordinance was duly and regularly introduced at a regular meeting of the City Council of the City of San Anselmo, held in said City on the 27th day of September, 1966, and was thereafter at a regular meeting of said City Council, held in said City on the 11th day of October, 1966, duly passed and adopted by the following vote:

TRANSPORTATION AGENCY
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
DIVISION OF HIGHWAYS

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received by the Department of Public Works, Division of Highways, at the office of the District Engineer, 150 Oak Street, San Francisco, California, until 10 A.M. o'clock on Wednesday, Nov. 9, 1966 at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read, for performing work as follows:

Marin County, in and near Novato, at Route 101 and Route 37 Interchange (04-Mrn-101, 37-18.7/19.3, R11.2/R11.4), about 0.6 mile in length, which includes about 40 acres of roadside areas to be prepared and planted.

Plans and specifications, and forms of proposal, bonds, and contract may be obtained at the above address.

No bid will be considered unless it is made on a proposal form furnished by the District Engineer, and is made in accordance with the provisions set forth in Section 2, "Proposal Requirements and Conditions," of the Standard Specifications. Each bid must be accompanied by a proposal guaranty in accordance with the provisions in Section 2-1.07 of the Standard Specifications.

The quantities listed in the State Highway Engineer's Estimate hereinafter stated, are approximate only, being given as a basis for the comparison of bids, and the Department of Public Works does not, expressly or by implication, agree that the actual amount of work will correspond therewith, but reserves the right to increase or decrease the amount of any class or portion of the work, or to omit portions of the work, as may be deemed necessary or advisable by the Engineer.

ph	per hour	pd	per day
phw	per hour worked	pdw	per day worked

psth w/p	per straight time hour worked or paid	pmd	per man day

Employer payments other than those itemized herein, as defined in Section 1773.1 of the Labor Code, are to be paid in accordance with the terms of the collective bargaining agreement applicable to the type or classification of the workmen or mechanics employed on the project.

Overtime, Sundays and Holidays—not less than one and one-half (1½) times the basic hourly rate plus applicable employer payments. The holidays upon which such rates shall be paid shall be all holidays recognized in the collective bargaining agreement applicable to the particular craft, classification or type of workman employed on the project.

Copies of all collective bargaining agreements relating to the work as set forth in the aforementioned Labor Code are on file and available for inspection in the office of the Department of Industrial Relations, Division of Labor Statistics and Research.

Attention is directed to Section 7-1.01G of the Standard Specifications providing for employment of apprentices on the work. Every such apprentice shall be paid the standard wage paid to apprentices under the regulations of the trade at which he is employed. Information relative to employment of apprentices shall be obtained from the Director of the Department of Industrial Relations, who is the Administrative Officer of the California Apprenticeship Council.

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 1770 of the Labor Code of the State of California, the Department of Public Works has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages and employer payments for health and welfare, vacation, pension and similar purposes in the county in which the work is to be done to be as follows:

TELEVISION REVIEW

Yes, Time Changes Image Of Tarzan

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Probably the least important question of the new television season is whether NBC-TV's freshman "Tarzan" series is as good as the old movies about the anti-social climber.

Then why bring it up at all? Because there has been much huffing and puffing to the effect that the new "Tarzan" epic, which stars Ron Ely, simply doesn't compare to the old motion pictures in terms of achievement.

Nobody, of course, would argue that there has ever been a better Tarzan than Johnny Weissmuller. And the elimination of the ape man's mate, Jane, has caused much talk in the various asphalt jungles around the country, if clippings are any indication.

But the notion that the old "Tarzan" movies were actually "good" is perfectly absurd. They were simply—and gorgeously—terrible, almost without exception, and that of course was perhaps the greatest part of their charm—a large reason for making "Tarzan" one of the most wonderful theatrical properties of all time. Being based on equally absurd, and therefore equally charming, books, there is hardly any other way the old films could have turned out.

The fact is that probably the best Tarzan movies, in terms of quality, were produced in recent years, and this could be a slightly dangerous step if carried too far—if they are improved too much. For one of the chief appeals of "Tarzan" is the genuine need of active minds to wallow every so often in nonsensical simplicity to achieve relaxation. I mean, who wants to see Marlon Brando playing Tarzan by studying his motiviations?

Why then, has there been so much finding of fault with NBC-TV "Tarzan" on a comparatice basis? I think the reason is plainly nostalgia, or at least mostly. As one gets up in years—say 30 or 35—it is natural to mutter about some guy whose waist goes in, and to fondly remember good old Johnny Weissmuller, and to forget how wonderfully awful most of the Tarzan movies were.

I confess I have never read a book about the ape man—or seen a film about him, and that includes NBC-TV's episodes—that I didn't really enjoy. Some more than others, or course.

And as for his mate, I don't really miss her so long as some other good-looking dish is around, and you can count on producer Sy Weintraub and NBC for that. And when I finally persuade Weintraub to sell me that film rights to "Tarzan" for my own spectacular ideas, I promise to carry on this tradition.

There is one criticism of the new "Tarzan" series that arises again and again: That he speaks in a much more contemporary, sophisticated and literate way than he used to. Well, the fact is that he has done this in the recent movies too. But I wonder whether anybody has stopped to consider the way the natives have been upgraded too in some cases.

Many of the natives in the old movies were portrayed by Negroes, and in these roles they usually represented savages or comic relief. In the new series, Negroes have major and literate parts. Times have changed. With upgrading and modernization going on at all levels, how would it be to have Tarzan grunting along like a nostalgic ape man?

General Returns To Battlefield

BASTOGNE, Belgium (AP) — The man to whom U. S. Gen. Anthony MacAuliffe said "nuts" at the Battle of the Bulge at Bastogne, Belgium, returned to the battlefield yesterday.

He is Gen. Hasso Von Manteuffel, who 22 years ago led the second German armored army which encircled U. S. forces in Bastogne in the last German offensive of World War II.

Von Manteuffel, 69, said one scene sharp in his memory was the sight of U. S. planes dropping arms and ammunition to the besieged troops. "Many fell in our lines," he said.

Did Raiders Get Fifth-Down Play To Nip The Jets?

By MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP) — Did a fifth-down play beat the New York Jets?

That's the way it may have appeared yesterday both to a crowd of 58,135 and a national television audience as the Oakland Raiders edged the Jets 24-21 on Hewritt Dixon's one-yard run with two seconds left.

But the answer to the question is: Probably not. And certainly not as much as the Jets' giveaway program.

No one will actually be certain what happened in the closing seconds of the tight American Football League struggle until the films of the game are reviewed. There was considerable confusion.

The situation developed when quarterback Tom Flores began to steer the Raiders, trailing 21-17, on a final march against the clock, completing five passes for 82 yards as Oakland drove to the New York two-yard line with just over a minute left.

The Jets stiffened at this point and three smashes into the line, two by Clem Daniels and one by Flores, still left the ball one yard shy on fourth down as the crowd roared its approval of the goal line stand.

Then the teams lined up again, Flores stepped back, the two lines charged —and then suddenly referee Ben Dreith quickly ran between the lines, his hands waving. The crowd anticipated either an Oakland penalty or a broken play, that would have given the Jets the ball.

But there was no flag on the ground. And, it turned out, no play either.

"I wanted quiet," said Flores. "We had trouble hearing even in the huddle. I just stepped back when I got up to the line. One of the Jet linemen — I don't know who — yelled 'Go' and that was our signal too — and snapped."

Independent-Journal Sports

FOURTH SECTION Mon., Oct. 24, 29

both lines fired.

"But the ball was never nullifying any play, the Raiders came back to try it once again.

This time they had to improvise. For when Flores got to the line he saw the Jets were stacked up in the middle, anticipating the play he had called in the huddle.

"I had to call a change at the line," Flores explained. "I had to yell my lungs out. I called it twice — I shouted to the line, and I turned and shouted to the backs."

The Jets, who had been unbeaten until last week's 24-0 loss at Houston, now are 4-2-1 and leading the Eastern Division by only one-half game over Boston, 3-2-1. The Raiders, meanwhile, now have moved to within a game of the Western lead with a 4-3 record to Kansas City's 5-2.

Flores' 31-yard touchdown pass to Art Powell came after a 23-yard punt by Curley Johnson. Flores' eight-yard touchdown run came after a Sammy Weir fumble gave Oakland the ball on the 27. And Mike Eischeid's 32-yard field goal for a 17-14 lead came after George Sauer's fumble gave Oakland the ball on the 23.

Joe Namath, who built a 14-7 halftime lead for New York by scoring the first touchdowns of his pro career on two short runs, drove the Jets 80 yards for a 21-17 lead after Eischied's field goal.

Flores, however, had five minutes to bring the Raiders back. The Jets didn't help that time. But they didn't have to.

49ers Beat Clock: 'Our Biggest Win Of Year'

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

49er Cliff-Hanger Just Like Their Thrilling 1957 Season

PHEW! PASS the phenobarbital, please.

I thought I had lost nine years of my life yesterday afternoon when the 49ers reached back into their 1957 vintage bag of tricks to beat Detroit's dandy Lions 27-24 in the last three seconds of a cliff-hanger to end all cliff hangers.

Remember 1957 and all those last-second thrillers? Yesterday's game was a carbon copy.

ACTUALLY IT was a dull game for three quarters until the 49ers capped a lethargic performance with their finest finish in nine years.

Now the team that was winless through its first eight games of 1966 suddenly finds itself in third place and even the severest critics are now at least whispering things about a possible championship, as far fetched as that may seem.

They needed that victory desperately yesterday. They should not lose to a team like the dissension-torn Lions who had to rely on a semi-pro quarterback (Karl Sweetan) and an imported, left-footed, soccer-style place kicker (Garo Yetremian) for most of their offense. But Detroit converted intercepted passes into TD's and had a 24-20 lead with less than a minute to play. We were dead, everyone thought.

BUT JOHN BRODIE, who was not having one of his better days, what with three interceptions and at least four dropped passes, rallied our guys 70 yards in four nifty plays, passing the final 21 yards to Monty Stickles for the clincher with 3 seconds left. Who wrote THAT script?

I think the Lions blew the game just before their go ahead touchdown in the final minutes when Sweetan kept calling time outs. This gave the 49ers just enough time to march back. Thank you, Mr. Sweetan.

Another costly error by the Lions came early in the game when linebacker-place kicker Wayne Walker was ostracized for fisticuffs. That left their kicking chores to the 5-9, 150-pound Yetremian and the import from Cyprus missed three field goals.

AFTER THE game I bumped into James S. Todt, president of the Northern California John Brodie Fan Club and he gasped, "Whew! I thought for a while John and I would get run out of town after those three interceptions, but that last play saved us."

ACTUALLY, BRODIE was just showing off because it was announced that members of the American Bankers Assn. were in attendance and the wealthy 49er quarterback knows every banker in America.

Brodie's performance reminded me of the 1957 game when, as, a rookie, he came off the bench in the final minute to throw a TD pass against Baltimore in one of that season's several cliff-hangers. Another thriller that year saw the 49ers nip Detroit with 11 seconds to go. Forty-niner coach Jack Christiansen remembers that one, too. He was a Detroit defensive back then.

THE 49ERS came up with a great play yesterday, a double-reverse with flanker Bernie Casey galloping 23 yards to the Detroit one that set up San Francisco's next-to-last TD. Brodie threw a key block on the play. How about THAT?

ALL SMILES after the game was 49er General Manager Lou Spadia. With the Rams coming to town in two weeks, yesterday's dramatics sold a lot of tickets and some people are talking about a possible sellout.

P.S. I hope KSFO replays the tape of yesterday's broadcast. The part where Lon Simmons describes the winning TD. It was priceless, Lonnie Babe, a classic.

Sweetan Another Unitas?

"We think he's going to be a real good one," said Detroit Coach Harry Gilmer about Karl Sweetan, the Lions' quarterback discovery.

And if Sweetan continues to perform the way he did yesterday in his debut as a starter, then his story could rival that of Johnny Unitas and the Baltimore quarterback's rise from sandlots to National Football League stardom.

Now the regular Detroit quarterback because of a season-ending injury to Milt Plum, Sweetan won the battle of statistics against nine-year veteran John Brodie of the San Francisco 49ers.

The 23-year-old Sweetan completed 19 of 34 passes for 227 yards, threw two touchdowns, no interceptions and called most of the plays. Brodie suffered three interceptions, completed 18 of 35 for 221 yards and only one touchdown—the winning one.

"I was lucky," said Sweetan, a polite graduate of Wake Forest. "My blockers and receivers were real good.

"I didn't feel any more pressure than I did playing for Pontiac."

The folks of Pontiac, Mich., probably will have to travel some to see their boy from now on. After a season of Canadian football with Toronto, Sweetan played semipro last year for the Pontiac Arrows and was named the most valuable player of the Midwest League.

TAXI SQUAD

He started this season on the Detroit taxi squad but was placed on the roster when the Lions let go veteran quarterback George Izo.

San Francisco Coach Jack Christiansen admitted that the 49ers used special defenses in an attempt to rattle Sweetan, but that they failed.

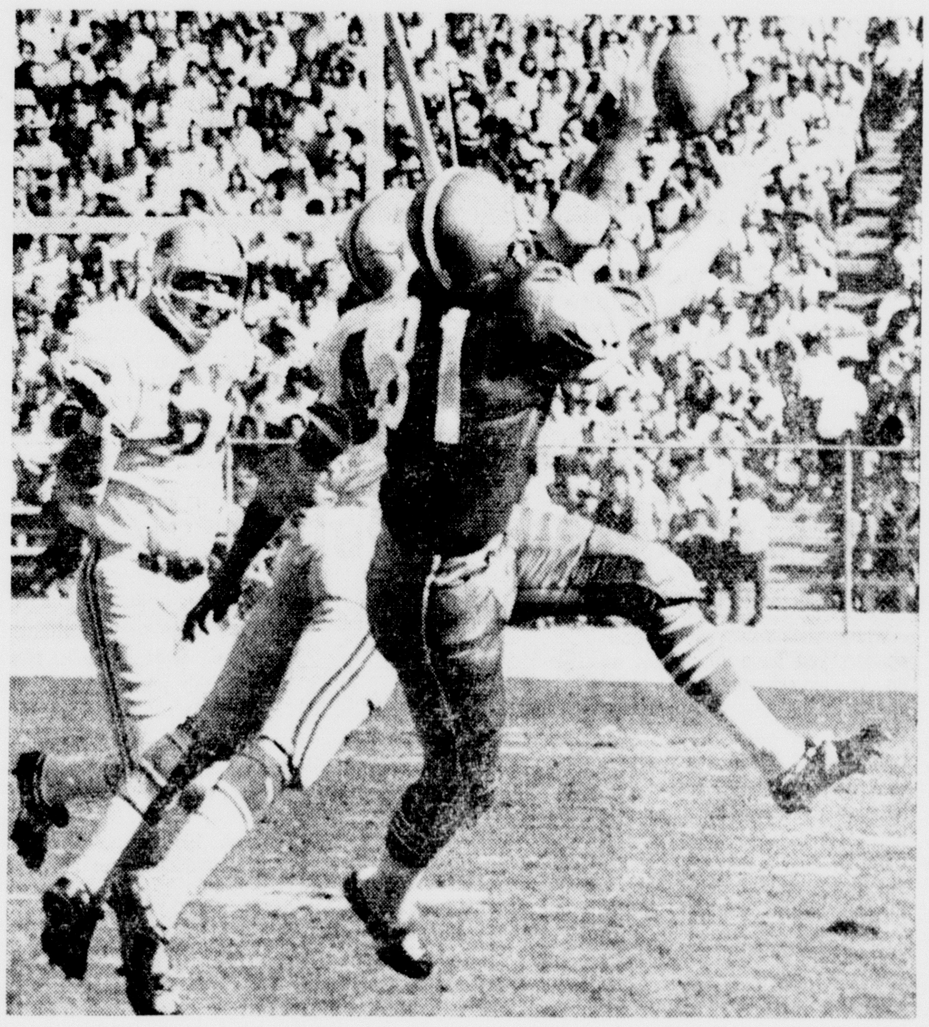

"Usually you'll hold one tackle back to watch for screens," explained Christiansen. "But we were rushing both tackles to try to pressure him. He switched to screens then which turned out to be about their most effective play, so we had to hold the tackle back then."

Sweetan said he didn't know who got the screen idea but that "coach Gilmer and coach (Sammy) Baugh had a lot of good ideas about calling plays and they really helped me."

The 6-foot-1, 210-pound Sweetan didn't scramble as many rookies do, but remained in the passer's pocket unless absolutely forced out.

He displayed composure in the fourth quarter by calmly driving the Lions 62 yards for a touchdown that gave them a 24-20 lead with 51 seconds remaining. The scoring play was a two-yard pass to Jim Gibbons after a fake run that fooled everyone but the yardsticks.

Sweetan's other scoring pass was a 73-yarder earlier in the final period to Pat Studstill on the first scrimmage play following a 49er touchdown. Those two teamed the previous week for a record-tying 99-yard touchdown pass play.

Stickles Called Victorious Play

Mind you, John Brodie wasn't kicking today. He was just wondering why.

The "why" is the Detroit Lions' defense which neglected to cover Monty Stickles and enabled Brodie to hit the big end with a 21-yard scoring pass just three seconds from the final gun yesterday. The throw gave the 49ers a pulse-stopping 27-24, victory.

"The only way I can figure it is that they were more concerned about a pass to either Bernie Casey or Dave Parks," said Brodie, "and in their concern forgot all about Monty."

Stickles, who averages about a half dozen passes a game while Parks and Casey usually get the call about a dozen times apiece, actually called for the winning play in the huddle, according to Brodie.

"Monty noticed the Detroit backs were covering Parks and Casey pretty closely and he suggested a pass to him," Brodie explained. "I thought it was a pretty good idea, so we went for it."

For the record, the Lions, 11 point underdogs, took a 24-20 lead 51 seconds from the end on a three-yard pass from rookie quarterback Karl Sweetan to Jim Gibbons. For all practical purposes, it looked like the winning score.

But Brodie, who endured some catcalls earlier in the game when his passes were short of their targets, marched the 49ers 70 years in just four plays with the clock running out to snatch victory from defeat and give San Francisco its third straight victory after a tie and a pair of losses.

"It was our most important victory this year," said Coach Jack Christiansen, "but only if you figure that had we lost it, would have ruined our streak which started three weeks ago with that win (21-20) over the Green Bay Packers."

In all, Brodie completed 18 of 35 passes for 221 yards. He also scored a touchdown at the end of an 80-yard march by sneaking over from the one. But the play that redeemed him, at least of the San Francisco fans, was that TD throw to Stickles.

The 49ers started off as if they meant to run the Lions right off the field. Tommy Davis kicked a nine-yard field goal on San Francisco's initial drive of the game and then Brodies went over from the one for a 10-0 lead.

However, a pair of intercepted passes on Brodie set up a 30-yard field goal by Garo Yepremian, the soccer-style kicker from the island of Cyprus, and a one-yard run by Amos Marsh for a 10-10 tie at intermission.

Davis booted a 28-yard field goal for a 13-10 lead in the third and John David Crow went one yard for another San Francisco touchdown early in the fourth to make it 20-10.

But the Lions were far from finished.

Sweetan, playing in his first game in the NFL, connected with Pat Studstill on a spectacular 73-yard pass-run play 37 seconds after Crow's TD and then marched the Lions 62 yards in 11 plays for a 24-20 lead and set the stage for the Brodie-Stickles last second heroics.

WBA Restores Ortiz' Title After Wild Mexico Battle

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Sugar Ramos may be the world's lightweight champion in Mexico, but Carlos Ortiz of New York still is the 135-pound titleholder as far as the World Boxing Assn. is concerned.

That's what Robert Evans, president of the WBA, said in Louisville, Ky., last night in the wake of the controversial decision here Saturday night by which Ramos was declared the champion when Ortiz refused to re-enter the ring after the fight had been stopped in the fifth.

Referee Billy Conn, the former world light-heavyweight champ from Pittsburgh, Pa., had stopped the fight with Ramos bleeding profusely from a cut over his left eye. He declared Ortiz the winner and still champion by a technical knockout.

Ortiz went to his dressing room and refused to return when Ramon Velasquez, secretary of the World Boxing Council, ruled that the fight should continue since Ramos was able to go on. After a 10-minute time limit Velasquez declared Ramos the world champion.

Conn's decision started a wild demonstration, which took on the proportions of a riot before Velasquez's ruling giving the title to Ramos, a Cuban who now lives in Mexico City.

There were echoes of the decision in New York last night. More than 2,500 Puerto Ricans, who regard Ortiz as an idol, vented their anger by demonstrating against a Mexican troupe before a Bronx theater.

Evans said that "if in Conn's opinion the cut was enough to stop the fight, as president of the WBA, I accept that decision." Conn said he stopped the fight because "Ramos was in danger of suffering permanent injury to his left eye."

Conn agreed with Bill Daly, manager of Ortiz, that "the Mexican people are not to blame for what happened at ringside."

"Agitators, who exist everywhere, are the ones to be held responsible," Daly said at a Sunday press conference. Daly was in a more calm mood than Saturday night when, bleeding from a wound on his head caused by a thrown 20-centavo piece, he termed the milling ringsiders "savages" and "animals."

Ortiz' next fight is in New York Nov. 28 against Flash Elorde of the Philippines and, Daly said, he will climb into the ring at Madison Square Garden as the world champion.

"He is recognized as such by the New York State Athletic Commission and that will have no bearing on the decision by Velasquez," Daly said. "For me and to all the world, Ortiz is and will remain champion."

He added:

"We will fight against Sugar Ramos any time or any place, including Mexico City, without asking anything more than adequate police protection."

"Nobody can take my title away except by beating me in the ring," Ortiz said. "The fight was to have gone 15 rounds, and I assure you that if it had gone the distance, even five more rounds, Ramos would have been so hurt he would never be able to fight again."

Litchfield's Nine Wins 3rd In Row

Pounding the ball for 12 hits, Litchfield's semi-pro baseball team from San Rafael won its third straight game in San Francisco AAA Winter League competition yesterday.

This time it was the New Pisa team falling to the lone Marin County team in the league, 9-2. The Litchfield nine is now tied for first place with Ellis Brooks Chevrolet, the team Litchifeld's dethroned for the title last year. Both are 3-0.

Pitcher Ron Law was the hero for Litchfield's, earning the win for his three-hit, five-inning performance, and hitting three singles and a double. Lou Millhollin had a single and two doubles and Bill Brody had two singles and two runs batted in. Ron Gasper also starred at the plate, smashing a three-run double to highlight a five-run third inning.

Junior Bulldogs Win 1st Game Of Season

The San Rafael Junior Bulldogs won their first game of the year Saturday, edging Tamalpais Junior Indians 7-0 in Marin County Pop Warner Football League action.

Hayward Driver Wins Sacramento 100-Miler

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Mario Andretti manages to keep the winning habit even when he loses.

Transmission touble forced Andretti to finish 10th yesterday in the Golden Gate 100 race at the California State Fairgrounds. But the 30 points he collected were enough to help him clinch his second straight U.S. Auto Club Big Car Driving Championship.

Chuck Hulse, Downey, was runner-up, followed by Larry Dickson, Marietta, Ohio; Don Branson, Champaign, Ill., and Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N.M.

The 26-year-old Andretti has 2,670 points. Second-place Jim McElreath, Arlington, Tex., picked up 60 points for seventh position yesterday and has 2,150.

The final big car race on the USAC circuit is next month at Phoenix, Ariz., and the 400 points for the winner still would not permit McElreath to catch Andretti.

Atkins won about $8,000 of the $27,135 purse. He averaged 89.30 miles an hour.

SPORTS BRIEFS

BOXING

MEXICO CITY—Sugar Ramos of Mexico was awarded the world lightweight title over champion Carlos Ortiz of New York by the Secretary of the World Boxing Council after referee Billy Conn stopped the bout in the fifth round and proclaimed Ortiz the winner by a technical knockout. Ortiz had refused to return to the ring and Ramos was declared the new champion following an ultimatum from the World Boxing Council to continue the fight.

MANILA—Flas Elorde of the Philippines successfully defended his junior lightweight title for the 10th time with a 15-round split decision over Vincente Derado of Argentina.

GOLF

MEXICO CITY—The United States survived the loss of seven strokes on two holes and, led by Shelley Hamlin of Fresno, beat Canada by nine shots for the women's World Amateur Golf Championship.

CARLSBAD, N.M.—Jack Rule of Cedar Rapids, Iowa and Women's Open champion Sandra Spuzich of Indianapolis surged from a five-shot deficit to win the $60,000 Haig Scotch Mixed Golf Championship with a 12-under-par total of 276.

MELBOURNE, Australia — Australia's Kel Nagle fired a five-under-par 68 and won the Wills Masters Golf Tournament with a 72-hole score of 278.

PINEHURST, N.C.—Curtis Pearson, a 56-year-old auto dealer from Memphis, Tenn. added the North and South Seniors Golf Championship to his string of victories with a 2 and 1 victory over defending champion Dave Goldman of Dallas.

AUTO RACING

5 Pass Interceptions Pace Hornets' 6-0 Win

By RALPH CHATOIAN

A complete turn around. They give up 546 yards in the air and a week later cut the figure to 17.

The Novato Hornets did that last Saturday afternoon, beating the visiting Giants from Redwood High School 6-0 before about 1,800 prep football followers on the Novato High School field.

Novato's defensive secondary gave up 546 yards to Tamalpais High School's Steve Woodward the previous Saturday. It prompted Novato coach Al Scott to make a couple of changes. He sure picked the right boys for the job.

He put in junior Pat Dougherty and senior Gary Dinkel. Dougherty, starting his first varsity game, intercepted three passes, the last one practically clinching the game. It would have been four interceptions, but on one steal he came down about a foot out of bounds.

Redwood played the kind of game that gives coaches ulcers. You expect a lot of punting in a 6-0 game, but Redwood only punted once. The Giants had other ways to give up the ball. Redwood quarterback Kevin Wilson had five of his passes intercepted, and lost possession on another occasion when he pitched out two feet behind halfback Harvey Hand, Novato's Rick Smith falling on the ball. And then there was a fumble by Rusty Poole, Novato's Cory Parfit recovering.

SEVEN TURNOVERS

That comes out to a total of seven turnovers, good in a bakery shop but bad on a football field.

The scoreboard zeros didn't change until the fourth quarter when Novato drove 50 yards after Parfit intercepted one of Wilson's errant passes. Sticking to the ground, the Hornets pushed halfway across the field in eight plays. Main contributor to the drive was substitute tailback Reid Underwood who had gains of 14, 8 and 8 yards.

When the Hornets got as close as the Redwood five, quarterback Harold Fain rolled out to the right and turned on the steam. He was hit on the two but dived into the right corner of the end zone, hitting the red flag marker.

Redwood got the ball back but it lost it just as quickly, when Dougherty made his third interception of the day. And with just 4:03 left in the game, it was a vital interception.

Novato maintained ball control and didn't have to give up the ball until only 34 seconds remained on the clock; then the Hornets punted.

On the first play, from his own seven, Wilson lofted a long pass in complete desperation. The ball came down about five yards short, Novato's Pete Weekly jumping up to grab it. All that was left was for Novato to wait for the clock to run out.

The closest Redwood ever got to the Novato end zone was 23 yards out, in the second quarter. On a fourth and one play, the Giants missed by inches and had to give up the ball. That, and the punt in the same period, were the only times Redwood gave up the ball without either an interception or a fumble.

Although Wilson completed more passes to the opposition (four completions and five interceptions), two of his long passes looked like touchdowns but fell right through the arms of receivers.

"Without doubt Dougherty was the difference," beamed a happy coach Scott. "His interceptions and tackling both. He was really cracking." Scott also praised opposing coach Bob Troppmann of Redwood. "We've been averaging 300 yards a game," said Scott, "but we didn't get that today. Troppmann did a tremendous job with his defense."

Sierra Passes Sink Tars In Conference Debut, 34-31

By ROB HARVEY

When you lose your league opener, you have to "chalk it up to experience" and look ahead to the next opponent, so the cliche goes.

College of Marin coach Dick Read would probably say, "You have to work on your pass defense."

That's just what College of Marin's gridders must do after the Tars lost their initial Golden Valley Conference game of the season to Sierra 34-31 Saturday night at Roseville High School, Roseville. And it was, we're told, all because of Marin's pass defense.

Sierra, last in GVC play last season, 34-6 Marin-victims and 0-5 in the final conference standings, started picking the Tar pass defense apart rapidly on the road to its victory, which cannot exactly be termed an upset.

After a Marin punt early in the first period, it took 'em just five plays. Two long passes put the ball on Marin's 22 and a 22-yard pass from Norm Doolittle to Greg Moore gave the Wolverines a 6-0 lead with 8:41 remaining in the 15-minute quarter. That was the beginning, and Doolittle did a lot before the fray ended, including three touchdown passes to his credit.

Marin took the ensuing kickoff and kept the ball on the ground while pounding out its first tally, Horace White's 14-yard run keeping an 8-play touchdown drive alive. White, who led Tar rushers with 57 yards in 10 carries, climaxed the 74-yard march with a 31-yard run, charging straight up the middle, bouncing off Wolveries and getting key blocks from Bob Unruh and Chuck Hahn. Steve Coontz's kick sailed through the uprights and Marin had a 7-6 advantage.

Later, 3:47 left in the first period, Tar Doug Dressler punted from his own 42 and Loren Swaney, a center, charged down the field to trap Greg Moore, who had fumbled and kicked the ball around, in the end zone for a two point safety. Then leading 9-6, the Mariners were consistently betrayed by their unusually good pass defense and after that it was all down hill. A pity after winning three of the first four non-league games.

The play that might have been the crowning blow came with just 41 seconds remaining in the first period. It was a 53-yard pass from Doolittle to Bill Rosencrantz following a Tar punt to Sierra's 35, which was returned 12 yards to the 47-yard line, and it vaulted the Wolverines into a 12-9 edge at the half.

The contestants traded touchdowns and subsequent two-point conversions in the third quarter, Sierra's tally coming after two personal fouls against Marin moved the pigskin to the Tar 30. At that point more evidence of Marin's poor pass defense was displayed as a 29-yard aerial set the Wolverines on the one-yard line; and Ward Harrington, Sierra's 225-pound fullback, smashed over on second down.

Quarterback Al Simontacchi came through with another fine performance for the Tars, connecting on 17 of 35 passes for 240 yards and two touchdowns. Simontacchi threw an 18-yard strike to Honor Jackson in the right corner of the end zone to pull the Mariners within three points at the end of the third period, 17-20; and passed seven yards to Dick Otis for the final Tar score, that done with just 1:45 left in the game, and possibly a costly one as Otis earlier threw a block (and was injured) to help spring White after White had taken a Simontacchi pass on the Tar 28 and raced down the sidelines to the Sierra 22 to set up the score.

Both Otis and Unruh were taken to Marin General Hospital when the Tars pulled back into town, Otis to be checked

INJUNS IN 45-6 WIN OVER SCRAPPY MARIN

By GARY TISCHLER

The Marin Catholic Wildcats showed up for their funeral Saturday afternoon but they were alive and kicking for an awful long time.

Tamalpais High School's doublebarreled attack finally laid them to rest for keeps in the third period and the Indians won as expected, 45-6, but not before the Wildcats had scored a touchdown that made it close at the first-period mark and had kept the score at a respectable 19-6 at the half.

What really did the Wildcats in was an awesome Tamalpais running attack.

That's right, running. The Indians, famed for their one-two passing combo of quarterback Steve Woodward and end Mike Biber, turned loose a bunch of high voltage runners, in particular fullback Mike Fowler, who may yet perk up the laundry business in cleat-marked jerseys.

Fowler, used infrequently but effectively until Saturday, exploded for 129 yards, scored three touchdowns and ran over more people than a drunken driver at rush hour could hope for.

Sparked by Fowler's rampage, the Indians amassed 309 yards rushing, another tops in the league for the season. The Indians also have the biggest passing day (546 yards against Novato).

Not that Woodward and Biber were twiddling their thumbs. But compared to last week, Woodward looked as if he were hardly passing at all, although he threw 28 times, completed 16 for 232 yards and four touchdowns.

Biber caught five of the passes for a big 131 yards and three touchdowns. That "ruined" his perfect streak of two a game, carried over five games.

Despite the one-sided end result, the outcome had some key results. It pushed Tamalpais into a share of the Marin County Athletic League top spot along with Terra Linda, which was thrashing El Camino, 33-0, in a practice game. Both teams have 3-0 loop marks and 5-1 season records. Marin Catholic dropped to an 0-4 record and 2-4 overall mark.

The Indians, after fumbling away the ball on their first try, scored the second time around, on a 51-yard drive with Fowler going over from one yard out, after picking up 22 yards enroute.

But Marin Catholic, outmanned but decidedly game, shocked the Indians by coming right back with a touchdown of its own after apparently being stalled with a fourth down and one situation on their 42.

An offsides penalty gave the Wildcats another chance and starting quarterback Pat Carney raced 15 yards to Tam 37, where another 15 penalty gave Marin Catholic an additional 15 yards. Carney fired a pair of short passes to Mike Giacomini for 10 yards and a first down then dropped a little screen pass to Mike Finnegan on about the 20-yard line. Finnegan put his head down and roared around left end untouched for the score, making it 7-6.

But the Indians quickly cleared away any high Wildcat hopes by punching across two touchdowns in the second period, one on a 7-yard TD toss to Biber from Woodward and the other on a three-yard blast by Fowler.

A bad punt put them in business on the Marin 32-yard line and it just took three plays to score, with Fowler gaining 19 on a pitchout, Kirk Sparks getting six through the left side and Fowler carrying three tacklers in for the touchdown to make it 25-6.

Woodward found Biber open across the middle on the 15-yard line minutes later and Biber raced it in for another score to make it 31-6.

Marin Catholic put a big rush on Woodward on the sixth touchdown, but Woodward, off balance and heading for a fall found Larry Adams in the end-zone on an unbelievable toss for a touchdown to end the 19-point Tam third-quarter splurge.

The last one was Biber's jinx-breaker and it covered all off 57 yards for the lone touchdown in the final period. Woodward and Biber called it a day after that and substitutes took over.

Woodward, who had only one pass intercepted all year, had two picked off by the Wildcats.

The Wildcats, who had enough troubles, were further hurt when Finnegan, the leading rusher in the MCAL, had to sit out the last half with muscle spasms.

But Carney, who played half the game at quarterback, turned in an outstanding job on defense, spearing two of the three Marin interceptions and making his presence at defensive end felt with some crunching tackles.

The 232 yards pushed Woodward over the 1,000-yard plateau although he has only appeared in three full games and half or less of two others. He now has 1,126 yards for the season, putting him ahead of San Rafael's Bill Joost who also passed the 1,000 mark with week with 1,033 yards.

PACKERS, BEARS, COLTS WIN

Browns Better Without Brown?

By VITO SELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Don't snicker the next time Otto Graham claims the Cleveland Browns are a better team without Jimmy Brown.

Everybody figured it was sour grapes when Graham made this statement at the start of the season because he has long accused the former Cleveland great for not doing much blocking.

Since Brown was generally considered the finest runner the game of football has ever seen, most observers figured that expecting him to block, too, was like expecting Sophia Loren to be a good cook.

But the Browns, who weren't supposed to be able to win a third straight Eastern Division title in the National Football League now that Brown has retired, are looking just as potent even though No. 32 isn't in the backfield anymore.

The Browns took a long look at oblivion yesterday but ran to daylight as the Cleveland offense, which Graham claims is better now that Ernie Green and Leroy Kelly block for each other and quarterback Frank Ryan, routed the Dallas Cowboys in a survival game, 30-21.

Meanwhile, Graham, the former Brown quarterback star who's now the Washington coach, gave an assist as his Redskins spilled St. Louis, 26-20.

St. Louis is now 5-1-1, Dallas 4-1-1 and Cleveland 4-2 in the tight struggle and the Browns are still very much in the race.

The game wasn't even as close as the score sounded as the Browns ran up a 30-7 lead before the Cowboys pushed across a pair of consolation touchdowns.

St. Louis was nursing a 13-12 lead after three periods when Washington struck for a pair of scoring strikes from Sonny Jurgensen to Bobby Mitchell to upend the Cardinals. Charley Gogolak also kicked four field goals for the winners.

Dallas and St. Louis, who played to a 10-10 tie last week, were the last of the unbeaten pro teams in 1966.

In the Western Division, Green Bay continued marching relentlessly to its fifth division title in seven years. The Packers clobbered the new Atlanta team, 56-3.

Green Bay is now 6-1 while the two teams who still think they can catch the Packers — Baltimore (4-2) and Chicago (3-3) —both had trouble winning. Baltimore barely edged Minnesota, 20-17 while Chicago tripped Los Angeles, 17-10, in a game that was scoreless in the second half.

Johnny Unitas flipped a 13-yard TD pass to Ray Berry after Tommy Mason fumbled to give Baltimore a 20-10 lead in the fourth period. But then Unitas fumbled to set up a Viking TD and the Colts barely held on for the victory.

Gale Sayers, finally showing some of the class of last year, returned a kickoff 93 yards for a touchdown to break a 7-7 tie in the second period and gave the Bears their victory.

Seals Top Blades, Rematch Thursday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The so far homeless California Seals have a four day break before returning to Los Angeles Thursday to face the Los Angees Blades after defeating them 3-1 in Western Hockey League competition yesterday.

The Seals tied one-all with Seattle on Saturday.

It was the Seals' second victory against one loss and two ties. The Seals are playing their first 10 games on the road, awaiting completion of the Oakland-Alameda Coliseum.

Forbes Kennedy added the Seals' final point in the second period which saw a potential shutout victory marred when Blade Dick Meissner blasted in the puck from close range.

The Seals then failed to move the puck out of their end of the court but managed to hold their own for a scoreless third period.

Bruins Top Cal, But Injuns Win

Meanwhile, the two undefeated and nationally ranked Los Angeles schools, who also are the only unbeaten teams in Pacific-8 Conference standings, must keep busy until they get around to deciding who goes to the Rose Bowl.

UCLA won its first conference game last Saturday by outlasting California 28-15. USC, 3-0 in the Pacific-8, rolled over Clemson 30-0 in a non-league encounter.

Neither sees conference action this week. USC travels to meet Miami of Florida in a night game Friday. UCLA plays host to Air Force the following night.

Washington travels to Stanford and Oregon State is at Washington State in Pacific-8 Saturday games. California goes to Penn State and Oregon plays Idaho at Boise.

Last Saturday, Washington ruined Oregon's outside Rose Bowl chances by edging the Ducks 10-7 in the only other conference clash. Stanford upset Illinois 6-3, Oregon State edged Arizona State 18-17 and Washington State moved past Idaho 14-7. In each, the Pacific-8 team was the visitor.

UCLA junior quarterback Gary Beban and halfback Mel Farr displayed their nationally touted talents in Berkeley. Beban passed for touchdowns of 16 yards to Farr and two yards to Rick Purdy. In addition to his touchdown pass reception, the little-used Farr bolted 20 yards through tacklers for another TD.

Stanford's sophomore quarterback Gene Washington carried the ball on Stanford's winning touchdown against the Illini Saturday.

Phil Messer had recovered Dave Lewis' punt on the 14-yard line after it had hit an Illini backfield man. The Indians moved to the one in six plays, but were set back to the six on a five-yard penalty for illegal procedure.

Washington then threw an incomplete pass and on the next play kept the ball on a roll out and swept untouched around left end into the end zone. The point-after kick missed the cross bars, but the touchdown stood up against Illinois' lone score, a 26-yard field goal by Jim Stotz.

UOP 41, Hawaii 0—Bob Lee scores twice, passes for two other touchdowns to give visiting Tigers a waltz at Honolulu.

Barry Scores 36, But Warriors Bow

Dave DeBusschere, the playing-coach of the Pistons, who has been setting the scoring pace for his team in recent games, tossed in 30 points last night to lead Detroit to a 119-110 victory over the San Francisco Warriors.

DeBusschere's scoring was overshadowed somewhat by San Francisco's Rick Barry, who tossed in 36 points, but the Pistons managed to build up a 95-83 lead after three quarters and were never in trouble thereafter. The National Basketball Assn. game was played in Seattle, Wash.

Surtees Wins Grand Prix; Brabham Cops World Title

MEXICO CITY (AP) — John Surtees of England, driving a smooth and trouble-free race in his Cooper-Masserati, won the Grand Prix of Mexico yesterday in the record time of two hours, six minutes and 35.34 seconds.

It was the first Grand Prix victory of the year for Surtees, who was injured in a crack-up in Canada several years ago. It also gained him second place to Jack Brabham of Australia in the final standings for the world driving championship for formula one cars. He averaged 95.69 miles per hour for the 201-mile around the twisty Magdalena Mixhauac course.

Brabham, who had clinched the world title before the race, was a close second, only eight seconds behind in 2:06:43.22. Dennis Hulme of New Zealand, who drove a Brabham-Repco like Brabham, was third in 2:06:43.47.

Richie Ginther of Costa Mesa, Calif., finished fourth in a Honda, Dan Gurney of Santa Monica, Calif., fifth in an American Eagle and Ronnie Bucknum of Los Angeles eighth in another Honda.

Ginther's time was 2:06:47.26 and Gurney's 2:08:03.15. Bucknum, who completed only 60 of the 65 laps, had a time of 2:07:58.96.

Shift Of Savings To Bonds Is Wise

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "My husband shifted our savings into bonds; he says we'll earn more that way. I don't understand." F. B.

A. Investors prefer putting money to work with minimum risk and maximum earning power. Bonds, representing capital borrowed by corporations or government units, generally provide maximum safety. They earn interest at fixed rates. Borrowers respect their obligations, since defaulted interest usually means bankruptcy. Stocks are shares of ownership expected to return dividends that tend to move with earnings. Prime income stocks normally yield 4 to 6 per cent.

Borrowing money to conduct business is common procedure. When demand for money is low, interest rates are moderate; when demand for money becomes high, rates move up, as they have recently by Federal Reserve Bank action. Bondholders do not receive a matching interest hike, but bond prices fall to match yields to money rates. If bonds yield more than stocks, investors will sell stocks and buy bonds to increase income. When demand again declines and interest rates drop, bond prices will advance to bring yields back to current money rates.

Q. "The present bond market is weaker than I expected. Your views will be appreciated." T. B.

A. In the interval after your question was formulated there were noticeably firmer prices and some new issues were marketed slightly under peak yields. Contributing influences were peace feelers that had been set in motion, plus increasing evidence of lower corporate earnings. Both developments could ease demands for capital and depress money rates. Yet we can't dodge the fact that in the fourth quarter seasonal demands for credit increase. Furthermore, Fed authorities consider the economy still overheated. Tight money is likely to continue. Conceivably, bonds could even weaken again.

Insurance Firm Backs California

SAN FRANCISCO — Aetna Life and Casualty, the country's largest multi-pleline insurer, will invest at least $90 million in California homes and industries in the next 18 months, according to Olcott D. Smith, Aetna chairman.

"Of the $90 million total, Smith said that $55 million is earmarked for mortgage loans we are already committed to make, a substantial part of the amount being for residential housing."

Smith said the remaining $35 million Aetna is committed to invest will be in direct loans to California business and industry. Among the loans are $10 million to Greyhound Leasing Corp. of San Francisco and $5 million to Kaiser Aluminum of Oakland.

Radio, Television Revenues Are Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Radio and television broadcasting revenues jumped 9.2 per cent in 1965 to more than $2.7 billion, says the Federal Communications Commission.

Industry profits compared to 1964 were up 8.1 per cent to $525.7 million. Radio accounted for 29 per cent of broadcast revenues but only 15 per cent of profits, said the report compiled from industry figures.

The report said 224 stations in the nation's 10 biggest markets pulled in 24 per cent of the revenue and 40 per cent of the profits.

Market Scrambled After Early Gains

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.6 million shares compared with 5.69 million Friday.

Gains of about 2 points by Standard Oil (New Jersey) and Westinghouse Electric bolstered the averages as did ranges of about a point by General Motors and Goodyear.

Aerospace issues were weak, however. Douglas Aircraft fell about 3½ points. United Aircraft and Boeing were down a point or more.

Gains of about a point or so were posted by American Tobacco, Merck, M-G-M, General Electric, Control Data, U.S. Smelting, RCA, Corning Glass, Gulf Oil and TWA.

Westinghouse Electric and Standard Oil (New Jersey) continued to make a strong showing but there was weakness among glamor stocks.

Analysts saw the list as still going through a consolidation phase and with many doubtful elements in the political and economic background.

Passenger Count Up At Oakland

OAKLAND—Passenger traffic at Oakland International Airport set another record in September, according to Joseph W. Chaudet, port commissioner president.

The total was 108,494, highest for a single month. The previous high of 107,846 was set in August—usually the peak month. The airline strike held the figures down.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Here's A Nevada Mining Story That Involves Two Marin Men

A Nevada mining story involving two Marin men that has recently come to light reads something like a page from one of the reference books in professional treasure hunter Arthur Dieters' library.

On the eastern slope of Buffalo Park, about 35 miles southeast of Lovelock, a silver mine amost a century old is being reopened by Mineral Properties, Inc. San Rafael residents Walter H. Barner and George Hasman are president and a director of the corporation respectively.

One recent assay of some of the silver deposits ran more than 3,000 ounces to the ton — said to be the highest assay in Nevada records and far surpassing silver assays of the famous Comstock Lode. Silver today has a value of about $1.29 an ounce, so you can figure from there.

The story is that the mine was worked originally in 1872 and yielded a high grade of ore which was packed on mules over 100 miles to a mill for processing. Eventually the claim was abandoned, due to a drastic drop in silver prices — and presumably forgotten.

Early last year, a rancher riding through the country checking on a herd of wild horses observed the abandoned tunnel and investigated. Specks of silver in the old ore dump excited his interest and further search turned up high grade ore samples. Later he returned with a friend and subsequent investigations were no less encouraging. Search of an old tunnel turned up a human arm bone near a cave-in. Possibly it belonged to an early miner — until the dirt is excavated there is no way of telling.

Barner and Hasman, both former Nevada residents, were traveling near Lovelock, heard the story and after verifying the findings formed a corporation with several others in the area to develop the mine. They have validated the title and put in a road to the 280-acre property, now known as the Shad - Mar Claims. It is in the heart of heavy silver producing country, so there is good reason to believe their holdings will prove out — and silver expected to go up to something like $1.50 an ounce!

No — they are not selling stock. Sorry.
